Economy Control Bill Being Smoothed Out

Drastic Law Is Readied By Solons

Price-Wage Curbs Are Outlined

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Senate-House conferees will smooth out the last rough edges today on a bill giving President Truman a free hand to administer far more drastic economic controls than he asked.

The weary conferees removed the major stumbling block on the legislation late last night by agreeing to allow Mr. Truman to impose price-wage ceilings as he sees fit.

The Senate wanted to lump all controls together and require the President to apply overall ceilings on the economy if he decided to slap price brakes on any one item.

The act would run until June 30, 1951.

Although the Senate conferees retreated from this stand, provisions were included which would require Mr. Truman:

1. To stabilize wages and salaries in any business or industry in which he imposes a ceiling on materials or service.

2. To apply overall ceilings on both prices and wages "clear across the board" when he has controlled a "substantial part" of the economy using the item-by-item approach.

THE CONFEREES still must tackle relatively minor differences in the House and Senate versions of the bill, but Senate Banking Chairman Maybank, (D) S. C., said the work would be finished today.

House Banking Chairman Spence, (D) Ky., said he would file his report tonight and bring the agreement up in the House, tomorrow.

After the House action, Maybank said, the Senate could act either tomorrow or Friday, sending the bill to the President before the weekend.

SOBUKSAN RIDGE TAKEN BY AMERICAN REGIMENT

Communists Stopped On Pohang Stab

Hill Near Pusan Goal Of Ko-Reds

TOKYO, Aug. 31—(Thursday)—Hard-fighting U. S. Negro troops recaptured bloodstained Sobuksan ridge in Korea's south sector Wednesday night while South Koreans on the east coast stopped Red forces in Pohang's environs.

The dramatic recovery of Sobuksan, nicknamed "Battle Mountain," was achieved by the American 24th Regiment and reported in a midnight front dispatch.

The prized ridge, 35 miles west of the all-important Allied entry harbor of Pusan, now has changed hands eight times in ten days.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced early today that other 25th Division troops "surrounded and dispersed" an enemy patrol that had infiltrated to within three miles of Masan, only 27 miles west of Pusan.

At the opposite end of the 120-mile Korean perimeter, a fierce battle raged at Kigye, a key road junction eight miles west-northwest of the port of Pohang. Shock units of perhaps 20,000 Red troops were striving to bring Pohang under direct siege from three sides.

MacARTHUR'S communique, issued at 1 a. m. Thursday, said the main road southwest of Pohang, cut by an enemy roadblock Tuesday night, has been cleared.

A midnight International News Service dispatch from that blazing sector said it was not clear late Wednesday night which side was in control of Kigye. The battle was rocking back and forth through the city between its southern and northern outskirts.

Before dawn Wednesday, the blasted junction city changed hands for the third time in 72 hours when North Korean troops recaptured it and drove south to attack heights defended by American-aided South Korean forces.

The late field dispatch described embattled Kigye as "nothing

Stiff Law For Commies Is Readied

Senate Studying House-OKd Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Congress is at the half-way mark today toward writing into the books a far-reaching, stringent law cracking down on the Communist Party and its front organizations.

The House late yesterday passed 354 to 20 a Communist-control bill and the Senate is ready to begin consideration of similar anti-subversive legislation soon.

Last-ditch administration supporters sustained a defeat in the House when a measure embodying the milder Communist curbs recommended by President Truman was rejected in favor of the strong bill written by the un-American Activities Committee.

The move by Rep. Celler, (D) N. Y., to substitute the administration's bill for the committee measure was defeated 153 to 64.

The House-approved legislation is modelled along lines of the GOP-initiated Mundt-Ferguson-Nixon bill although it now bears the name of Chairman Wood, (D) Ga. Only one minor amendment was adopted by the house.

THE HOUSE bill would:

1. Require all members of the Communist Party to be registered with the Justice Department.

2. Require Communist front organiations to list their officers and render a financial accounting to the attorney general.

3. Make it unlawful for Communists or fellow travellers to hold government or defense industry jobs.

4. Compel the Communist party and front groups to label their literature and radio broadcasts.

5. Deny passport privileges to Communists or front members.

6. Refuse income tax deductions for contributions to Communist causes.

7. Extend the statute of limitations for prosecution for espionage activities from three to 10 years.

Failure to comply with the registration sections of the act would be punishable by 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

In addition, a five-member subversive control board would be set up to determine Communist Party membership and to list after hearings organiations found to be Communist fronts. Appeal procedure in the courts is provided in the measure.

A SIGN MARKING the new tent headquarters of Mayor Orville Hubbard of Dearborn, Mich., is set in place before the tent at Camp Dearborn, just across the line in Oakland county. From here Hubbard will direct his city's affairs free from process servers who want to tag him with a body attachment in lieu of a $7,500 libel judgment he owes.

Chamber Again Ballots Against Change In Hours

There will be no change in store closing hours in Circleville.

The decision was made by members of Circleville Chamber of Commerce during a dinner meeting in Court-Main restaurant Tuesday evening. The decision was a reaffirmation of a former resolution passed by the Chamber.

The Chamber dropped its campaign for a four-lane highway from Columbus through Circleville to Chillicothe.

It was explained that opposition to the project expressed in Circleville city council early this month by a large delegation of residents made continued campaigning impractical.

The merchant group also discussed:

1. Plans for a Holloween parade and costume contest. Without reaching any conclusion, members gave some consideration to where the contest should be held this year. Suggestions ranged from holding the event in Memorial Hall to having it take place in one of the local theatres.

Solution was deferred to a future meeting.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30—The New Orleans weather bureau said today the center of a tropical hurricane is expected to strike the coast east of Burwood, La., this afternoon and reach the Mississippi and Alabama coasts early tonight. Burwood is at the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The weather bureau placed the center of the storm, with 85 to 95-mile an hour winds, about 165 miles south-southeast of New Orleans at 10:30 a. m. (EST). The whirling wind mass, the bureau said, is moving northward at about 15 miles an hour.

Draft Board Hike Talked

Member Increase Idea Considered

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Governor Lausche and State Draft Chief Chester W. Goble decided today against an immediate increase in local draft board memberships from three to five members.

However, Goble said the boards might be expanded statewide in the event of full mobilization. Ohio draft boards were composed of five members from 1940 to 1946.

The request for the increase came from a group of veterans organizations in Champaign County, which asked specifically that the membership of the board in Urbana be increased and that a veteran of World War I or World War II be one of the new members.

The governor turned over the request to Colonel Goble with the declaration that "I will rely very heavily on Colonel Goble's recommendation."

Lausche said he welcomed the interest and the constructive criticism of the Urbana veterans but pointed out that the problem could not be dealt with on the basis of Champaign County alone.

Both Lausche and Goble conveyed their sentiments to Carol Long, commander of the American Legion post in Urbana.

Malik Hints Red Walks From UN To Be Ended

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 30—Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik indicated today that the days of Russian walkouts from the UN Security Council are ended for the present to enable him to fight the U. S. through September on Formosa and Korea.

The Russian served notice on the other ten Council members that he intends to press hard for an invitation to representatives of Communist China to participate in Formosa discussions.

Malik lost a formal motion for such an invitation to the Peiping regime at last night's session, after which he adjourned the council to 3 p. m. tomorrow.

This will be his last day as president, the end of 31 days of turbulent sessions marked by violent battles between himself and other members. He refused time and again to allow a vote on seating South Korean Representative John M. Chang, thereby tying up all active consideration of the Korean situation.

Tonight Malik will play host, in "black tie," to nine of the other ten members of the council. He did not invite Tingfu F. Tsiang of Nationalist China to the monthly dinner given by the departing president.

ON FRIDAY, the presidency goes to Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Britain. Malik will then be on the receiving end and face a president bent on enforcing the standing rules on council procedure and behavior.

Man Snuffs Out Family Of 5 In 4-Hour Slaughter Orgy

EAST GREENWICH, R. I., Aug. 30—Rhode Island police announced today that a 27-year-old boarder had confessed the murder of a family of five and admitted his action followed disclosure of an affair with the wife of his landlord.

Police Chief Charles R. Johnson said that Edwin H. Reynolds, the boarder, signed a lengthy confession in which he acknowledged that he was the father of Mrs. Fred R. Dusza's unborn child.

Mrs. Dusza, mother of three daughters, died early yesterday along with her children and her husband in what police described as four-hour orgy of slaughter.

The Dusza family at first was believed to have died in what appeared an accidental fire which destroyed their home.

Police investigation uncovered foul play and a manhunt was started for Reynolds who was captured in a hideout near the Dusza home by authorities who were led to the spot by Reynolds' pet collie dog.

The police said that once in custody Reynolds, himself the father of three children and estranged from his family, stoically related the ghastly details of how he battered Dusza to death with an ax and then strangled Mrs. Dusza and the Dusza children.

His confession, according to police, related how he spread gasoline about the Dusza home and set fire to it in an attempt to cover up the crime.

Reynolds was said to have told how he alternately smoked, killed and drank coffee until he had wiped out the family of five.

Besides Dusza's wife, Beatrice, 31, the other victims were—Beatrice, 11; Kathryn, 8, and Gail, 3.

Reynolds, a boarder at the Dusza home, said he used a chair, ax, rope, silk stocking and his bare hands to snuff out the lives of the Duszas after an argument which began when Mrs. Dusza informed her husband that Reynolds was the father of her unborn child.

He was nabbed in the home of his estranged wife, Betty, who had left him nine months ago because of his growing friendship with Mrs. Dusza.

Reynolds said the scene in the Dusza home at 1 a. m. yesterday was one of quiet contentment until Mrs. Dusza dropped the bomb-shell concerning the paternity of her child—expected within six weeks. He recounted:

"Fred started to argue with me and, after a few moments, I jumped up and slugged him. I grabbed a chair and hit him on the head and he went down. Beatrice was screaming."

He said he then went to a cupboard, grabbed an ax and crushed Dusza's skull with the butt end of it.

He continued:

"I left him lay there and sat down at the table with Beatrice. She begged me to call a doctor for Fred, but I didn't. He was dead anyhow."

Mrs. Dusza began pleading for Reynolds not to harm her or her children.

An hour later, with Dusza's bloody body still on the floor less than five feet away, Mrs. Dusza got up and went to the bathroom. While she was there, Reynolds opened a drawer and got out a silk stocking.

When Mrs. Dusza returned to the kitchen, Reynolds, without warning, grabbed her, twisted the stocking around her neck and, ignoring her desperate appeals for mercy, throttled her. He let her fall to the floor, her head at the feet of her dead husband. He recalled:

"I sat down again and had a couple of smokes. I was still sitting there when little Beatrice came downstairs and into the kitchen. She saw her daddy's body lying on the floor with blood all over him and she started to cry.

"I grabbed her throat with my hands and choked her. I let go and she fell to the floor. I went upstairs and got a necktie and came back down, tied it around her neck and twisted it. I sat down and had a few more cigarets."

For another hour, Reynolds sat at the table.

He then began pondering the fate of the other two girls, who lay asleep upstairs.

Snatching a clothesline, Reynolds walked upstairs, tied the rope separately around each little child's throat and strangled them. Neither ever awoke.

He went outside the house and, with a rubber hose, siphoned gasoline from the tank of his auto. Returning to the house with the gasoline, he liberally sprinkled it on furniture in the living room and kitchen—and sat down for two more cigarets. When the second had been finished he struck a match, walked to the living room and tossed it onto a gasoline-covered chair.

Man Snuffs Out Family Of 5 In 4-Hour Slaughter Orgy

EAST GREENWICH, R I., Aug. 30—Rhode Island police announced today that a 27-year-old boarder had confessed the murder of a family of five and admitted his action followed disclosure of an affair with the wife of his landlord.

Police Chief Charles R. Johnson said that Edwin H. Reynolds, the boarder, signed a lengthy confession in which he acknowledged that he was the father of Mrs. Fred R. Dusza's unborn child.

Mrs. Dusza, mother of three daughters, died early yesterday along with her children and her husband in what police described as four-hour orgy of slaughter.

The Dusza family at first was believed to have died in what appeared an accidental fire which destroyed their home.

Police investigation uncovered foul play and a manhunt was started for Reynolds who was captured in a hideout near the Dusza home by authorities who were led to the spot by Reynolds' pet collie dog.

The police said that once in custody Reynolds, himself the father of three children and estranged from his family, stoically related the ghastly details of how he battered Dusza to death with an ax and then strangled Mrs. Dusza and the Dusza children.

His confession, according to police, related how he spread gasoline about the Dusza home and set fire to it in an attempt to cover up the crime.

Reynolds was said to have told how he alternately smoked, killed and drank coffee until he had wiped out the family of five.

Besides Dusza's wife, Beatrice, 31, the other victims were—Beatrice, 11; Kathryn, 8, and Gail, 3.

Reynolds, a boarder at the Dusza home, said he used a chair, ax, rope, silk stocking and his bare hands to snuff out the lives of the Duszas after an argument which began when Mrs. Dusza informed her husband that Reynolds was the father of her unborn child.

He was nabbed in the home of his estranged wife, Betty, who had left him nine months ago because of his growing friendship with Mrs. Dusza.

Reynolds said the scene in the Dusza home at 1 a. m. yesterday was one of quiet contentment until Mrs. Dusza dropped the bomb-shell concerning the paternity of her child—expected within six weeks. He recounted:

"Fred started to argue with me and, after a few moments, I jumped up and slugged him. I grabbed a chair and hit him on the head and he went down. Beatrice was screaming."

He said he then went to a cupboard, grabbed an ax and crushed Dusza's skull with the butt end of it.

He continued:

"I left him lay there and sat down at the table with Beatrice. She begged me to call a doctor for Fred, but I didn't. He was dead anyhow."

Mrs. Dusza began pleading for Reynolds not to harm her or her children.

An hour later, with Dusza's bloody body still on the floor less than five feet away, Mrs. Dusza got up and went to the bathroom. While she was there, Reynolds opened a drawer and got out a silk stocking.

When Mrs. Dusza returned to the kitchen, Reynolds, without warning, grabbed her, twisted the stocking around her neck and, ignoring her desperate appeals for mercy, throttled her. He let her fall to the floor, her head at the feet of her dead husband. He recalled:

"I sat down again and had a couple of smokes. I was still sitting there when little Beatrice came downstairs and into the kitchen. She saw her daddy's body lying on the floor with blood all over him and she started to cry.

"I grabbed her throat with my hands and choked her. I let go and she fell to the floor. I went upstairs and got a necktie and came back down, tied it around her neck and twisted it. I sat down and had a few more cigarets."

For another hour, Reynolds sat at the table.

He then began pondering the fate of the other two girls, who lay asleep upstairs.

Snatching a clothesline, Reynolds walked upstairs, tied the rope separately around each little child's throat and strangled them. Neither ever awoke.

He went outside the house and, with a rubber hose, siphoned gasoline from the tank of his auto. Returning to the house with the gasoline, he liberally sprinkled it on furniture in the living room and kitchen—and sat down for two more cigarets. When the second had been finished he struck a match, walked to the living room and tossed it onto a gasoline-covered chair.

but ashes and no longer of any strategic value" after the South Koreans counter-attacked and transformed the town into a virtual no man's land.

The message reported that the situation in the vital Pohang-Kigye sector had been "stabilized momentarily" late Wednesday night.

Along the upper side of the United Nations defense rectangle, South Korean troops repulsed a big new tank-led enemy onslaught after falling back three-fifths of a mile before a Red drive northeast of pivotal Taegu.

On the central front, American infantry and heavy guns below Taegu broke up three more attempts by boatloads of Communist troops to cross the Naktong river which had suddenly dropped 15 inches in depth due to a dry spell.

Two British battalions, including units of the celebrated Scottish Highlanders, arrived at action stations on the war front to add their weight to the growing Allied forces battling the Red invasion.

ALLIED PLANES and warships dealt fresh bombing, strafing and shelling blows against North Korean troops and installations in every battle zone and along both the east and south coasts.

Despite severe fighting in three of the four principal sectors, no major changes occurred Wednesday afternoon and evening. Accordingly, U. S. Eighth Army field headquarters omitted its customary nightly communique Wednesday.

In Washington, an Airforce spokesman today reported new evidence that the Communists are building airfields in North Korea to harbor "planes we know nothing about."

He said the North Koreans are estimated to have only 14 to 16 planes, and indicated a belief that the airports are being built for planes to be sent from Russia or Communist China.

The spokesman said no increase of opposing aircraft has been noted as yet. He pointed out, however, that the day is approaching when the U. S. and its Allies can launch an offensive toward North Korea.

The new airports, including runways long enough for jet planes and heavy concrete walls to protect them from bomb damage, are being built mainly in the vicinities of Pyongyang, North Korean capital, and Wonsan, oil refining centner.

prove a $25,000 bond issue for the completion of the school.

The bond issue is proposed to take care of additional plumbing and heating, electrical equipment and general equipment.

According to the contract awarded to the Springfield firm under the general construction, the new building will be constructed on a "tilt-up" plan.

That is, most of the construction work will be completed flat upon the ground, then tilted upwards into position.

Wilson is to lay pipes for plumbing and heating in the structure as needed.

Malik Hints Red Walks From UN To Be Ended

ik promptly said he will bring it up again next month.

In favor were Russia, Norway, India and Yugoslavia. Against were the U. S., China, Ecuador and Cuba. Abstaining were Britain, France and Egypt.

U. S. sources indicated that efforts will be concentrated on inducing the Security Council to act speedily in appointing a commission to investigate the Formosa situation on the island itself, giving Malik no valid excuse for bringing the Chinese Communists into the UN picture.

Tomorrow, when the council has its next session, Malik intends to request the council to include on its agenda the Communist Chinese charges that U. S. planes strafed Manchuria. In this case, also, the U. S. has asked the Security Council to set up an investigating commission and send it to the spot.

It is doubtful whether Malik will consent to the appointment of such UN commissions. He will probably veto them on the grounds they do not promise any worthwhile results.

Drastic Law Is Readied By Solons

formula, the bill contains those specific powers for which the President asked—authority to set up priorities, allocations and rationing of scarce goods and services and to control real estate and consumer credit.

Maybank told reporters:

"I think that this is the best the House and Senate jointly could do. It is not exactly what the Senate wanted and is not just what the House had in mind, but it is a good compromise."

Actually, the President has three choices of how to apply price-wage stabilization— voluntary, "selective" (item-by-item), or overall, general curbs.

Mr. Truman is virtually certain to use only the first two initially and only on key items such as steel and iron, building materials, rubber and chemicals.

The House agreed to the Senate suggestion for a 10-man joint "watchdog committee" to keep an eye on how the controls are applied.

Teen Tips

What about girls who wear glasses? Do they have to miss date fun simply because their vision isn't 20-20? Here's a letter from one of them:

"I am 16 and I have a problem. I'm said to be attractive and I try to have a pleasant personality. When I'm with friends, I have an enjoyable time and try to see that they do, too. But I've never had a date. I wear glasses. Without them, I'm not bad looking, but I can't take them off because I can't see without them. Do all boys condemn girls who wear glasses?"

Ans.—Dating IS a little harder in one way for girls who wear glasses. You can't count on making a first impression that bowls over the boys. It takes more time because you have to attract them with your personality instead of your looks. Some boys get a wrong first-impression. . . think a girl with glasses is more studious or serious than she is or else they just don't notice her attractive features at first.

It will help if you try to get to KNOW some boys and give them a chance to know you, so they'll realize that you can be fun. To get acquainted with the boys and enjoy normal 'teen-age social life, you have to be where they are and be there regularly. Join school clubs that boys belong to; attend school games and other activities such as the orchestra or school paper.

Look up community or church activities for high schoolers. Go to a dancing class if your dancing isn't smooth. How about sports? Learn to play tennis, bowl or skate. . .a good way to meet new friends. Invite girl friends to your home and go to theirs (they may have brothers).

Go to a school dance, even if you have to bribe your brother or cousin, so boys will see you there and realize that you're date-able. Take off your glasses while you dance and put them in your evening bag or your partner's pocket. You don't have to see then! Wear becoming clothes and be sure the frames of your glasses suit the shape of your face. Later in life, you'll find that some young men will be more mature and won't misjudge or overlook you simply because of the glasses.

For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.

School Band Gets Workout; 'Looks Good'

Circleville high school's 70-piece marching band met Tuesday in the school for its first Fall practice.

"The youngsters sounded surprisingly good," praised Director Truman Eberly. "They must have kept up their practicing during the Summer."

The director said that almost everyone in the unit was present during the first session, including the majorettes who now are competing for honors in Ohio State Fair.

"Our first practice was entirely indoors," Eberly said. "We will divide our practices between playing and drilling in the future when weather permits."

Practice sessions have been shifted to begin at 6:30 p. m. and last until 8:30 p. m. Eberly said the hours were changed from the original 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. because of early darkness.

The band is to practice Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week and next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for its coming marching season.

First performance by the CHS musicians will be Sept. 15 during the Circleville-Holy Rosary football game.

New Traffic Gadget Booked For Intersection

Circleville motorists will find a new gadget flickering a warning at them from the center of Court and Main street intersection Saturday night.

The device is a four-vaned affair carrying the information that left turns are against the law. Under an ordinance passed by city council early in August left turns at the intersection are outlawed between 6 p. m. and 10 p. m.

Violators may be fined from $1 to $3.

Council ruled that the new law be placed into effect for a 30-day trial period. Safety Director C. O. Leist said police will set up the portable warning sign "at 6 p. m. on the first Saturday in September." Wind created by passage of autos causes the four-vaned sign to revolve slowly.

The governor also pointed out that draft regulations prohibit Reservists or men under 30 years old from serving on boards. This would bar a majority of World War II veterans.

In the letter to Lausche, the Legion, VFW and DAV members expressed belief that a veteran member could possibly eliminate choice of physical and mental misfits because "a former serviceman will be more aware of the requirements of a good soldier."

Goble, however, pointed out that physical and mental qualifications are not decided on by the boards, but that the matters of a man's mental and physical ability must be determined by the armed forces upon a physical examination."

Virginia Troop In Its 13th War

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 30—The Alexandria light infantry company has marched off to its 13th war.

The National Guard unit, now not even classified as infantry, marched the two miles down King Street—the city's main street—through crowds that couldn't cheer because they had seen too many relatives march to the railroad station and on to combat.

The company was founded in 1693, and has participated in every conflict involving either the United States or the pre-Revolutionary British colonies — since that time.

It was the first Virginia outfit to be called up in World War II, and it is the first Virginia unit to be activated in the Korean war.

Jeweler Slated For Hearing On Stolen Gems

Columbus Jeweler Charles Bissantz is slated to appear Sept. 6 on an accusation of receiving goods stolen last week from an Ashville jewelry store.

Bissantz entered a plea of innocence Tuesday when arraigned in the capital city municipal court. He is accused of receiving and concealing goods stolen from six other stores, also.

Meanwhile, Eugene Waggoner and William Greenwald, both of Columbus, are expected to face preliminary hearings soon on accusations of breaking and entering the seven stores in question.

Nearly $600 in loot was taken from Boyd's jewelry store in Ashville in the theft which led to the arrest of the suspected men.

Vo-Ag Courses Are In Demand

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—A non-partisan survey showed today that Ohioans want vocational agriculture courses more than any other addition to their school programs.

But the report by the Ohio Citizens Commission for Public Schools also showed school districts must be enlarged to achieve this aim.

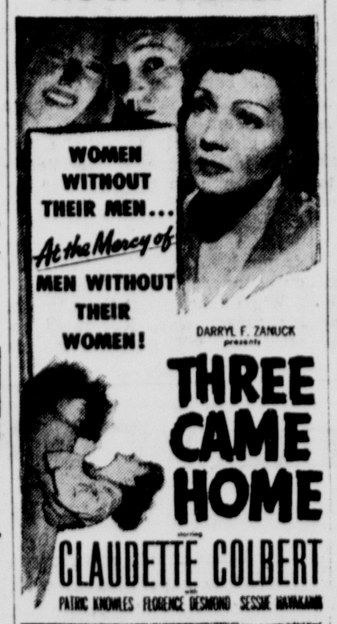

The statewide poll showed one-third of the people are primarily interested in vocational education — and rural citizens want agricultural vocational courses more than anything else.

the corn crop might be so retarded as to be vulnerable to damage by possible early frost next month.

Therefore, the report continued, the higher average temperatures together with beneficial rains Monday and Tuesday were most welcome.

A period of thunderstorm activity began Monday which produced in two days generous amounts of moisture, especially in west central sections.

Dayton reported the largest amount with 1.90 inches, all of which fell on Tuesday. Eastern counties were less fortunate as regards rainfall amounts, although light showers were well scattered.

Tomatoes in northern counties have been slow to ripen, and in some places have been hit by a blight caused by cool mornings.

However, in general, the crop looks good, the report concluded. Apples in southern sections look good, but ripening is decidely lower than last year.

Skidding Car Brings Injuries To Adelphian

Wet pavement was blamed for an accident on Route 56 about a mile east of Circleville at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in which an Adelphi man was injured.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff said Willard Hettinger, 34, of Adelphi, told him his auto skidded on the wet pavement, turned around in the highway and crashed rear first into a farm fence.

The impact of the crash tossed the rear of the car back onto the pavement with the front end remaining in the ditch.

Ag Imports Top Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The Agriculture Department reports that for the first time in eight years the U. S. imported more farm products than it exported during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The U. S. exported $3.11 billion worth of agricultural commodities from July, 1949, to June, 1950, and imported a total of $3.176 billion worth during the same period.

The last time imports exceeded exports of farm products was during the fiscal year of 1941-1942. Exports in that year amounted to $1.32 billion, compared to imports of $1.5 billion.

prove a $25,000 bond issue for the completion of the school.

The bond issue is proposed to take care of additional plumbing and heating, electrical equipment and general equipment.

According to the contract awarded to the Springfield firm under the general construction, the new building will be constructed on a "tilt-up" plan.

That is, most of the construction work will be completed flat upon the ground, then tilted upwards into position.

Wilson is to lay pipes for plumbing and heating in the structure as needed.

Truman Asking Fast Tax Action

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — President Truman today asked congressional leaders to speed action on his request for a $4.5 billion increase in personal income and corporate taxes.

The chief executive conferred at the White House with Senate Democratic Whip Myers of Pennsylvania, House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts, and Treasury Secretary Snyder.

ik promptly said he will bring it up again next month.

In favor were Russia, Norway, India and Yugoslavia. Against were the U. S., China, Ecuador and Cuba. Abstaining were Britain, France and Egypt.

U. S. sources indicated that efforts will be concentrated on inducing the Security Council to act speedily in appointing a commission to investigate the Formosa situation on the island itself, giving Malik no valid excuse for bringing the Chinese Communists into the UN picture.

Tomorrow, when the council has its next session, Malik intends to request the council to include on its agenda the Communist Chinese charges that U. S. planes strafed Manchuria. In this case, also, the U. S. has asked the Security Council to set up an investigating commission and send it to the spot.

It is doubtful whether Malik will consent to the appointment of such UN commissions. He will probably veto them on the grounds they do not promise any worthwhile results.

formula, the bill contains those specific powers for which the President asked—authority to set up priorities, allocations and rationing of scarce goods and services and to control real estate and consumer credit.

Maybank told reporters:

"I think that this is the best the House and Senate jointly could do. It is not exactly what the Senate wanted and is not just what the House had in mind, but it is a good compromise."

Actually, the President has three choices of how to apply price-wage stabilization— voluntary, "selective" (item-by-item), or overall, general curbs.

Mr. Truman is virtually certain to use only the first two initially and only on key items such as steel and iron, building materials, rubber and chemicals.

The House agreed to the Senate suggestion for a 10-man joint "watchdog committee" to keep an eye on how the controls are applied.

Elinor Williams'

Teen Tips

What about girls who wear glasses? Do they have to miss date fun simply because their vision isn't 20-20? Here's a letter from one of them:

"I am 16 and I have a problem. I'm said to be attractive and I try to have a pleasant personality. When I'm with friends, I have an enjoyable time and try to see that they do, too. But I've never had a date. I wear glasses. Without them, I'm not bad looking, but I can't take them off because I can't see without them. Do all boys condemn girls who wear glasses?"

Ans.—Dating IS a little harder in one way for girls who wear glasses. You can't count on making a first impression that bowls over the boys. It takes more time because you have to attract them with your personality instead of your looks. Some boys get a wrong first-impression. . . think a girl with glasses is more studious or serious than she is or else they just don't notice her attractive features at first.

It will help if you try to get to KNOW some boys and give them a chance to know you, so they'll realize that you can be fun. To get acquainted with the boys and enjoy normal 'teen-age social life, you have to be where they are and be there regularly. Join school clubs that boys belong to; attend school games and other activities such as the orchestra or school paper.

Look up community or church activities for high schoolers. Go to a dancing class if your dancing isn't smooth. How about sports? Learn to play tennis, bowl or skate. . .a good way to meet new friends. Invite girl friends to your home and go to theirs (they may have brothers).

Go to a school dance, even if you have to bribe your brother or cousin, so boys will see you there and realize that you're date-able. Take off your glasses while you dance and put them in your evening bag or your partner's pocket. You don't have to see then! Wear becoming clothes and be sure the frames of your glasses suit the shape of your face. Later in life, you'll find that some young men will be more mature and won't misjudge or overlook you simply because of the glasses.

Driver Forfeits $100 Bond Here

William Ned Thomas, 27, of 119 West Huston street, forfeited $100 bond in Circleville mayor's court Tuesday when he failed to answer an accusation of drunken driving.

Thomas was arrested on South Washington street by Officers Carl Thompson and Dixie Watters.

John Craddock, 19, of Detroit, forfeited $10 bond in mayor's court by failing to appear on an accusation of crossing a yellow non-passing line on North Court street.

Embezzlement Is Uncovered

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Registrar of Motor Vehicles R. E. Foley is preparing a complete report today on the embezzlement of $998.35 from the Motor Vehicles Bureau.

Foley announced yesterday that an inspector converted to his own use the money originating from the sale of 12 truck and two passenger car licenses.

Foley said John E. Gilbert, the inspector, has admitted the embezzlement, has resigned, and that restitution has been made.

School Band Gets Workout; 'Looks Good'

Circleville high school's 70-piece marching band met Tuesday in the school for its first Fall practice.

"The youngsters sounded surprisingly good," praised Director Truman Eberly. "They must have kept up their practicing during the Summer."

The director said that almost everyone in the unit was present during the first session, including the majorettes who now are competing for honors in Ohio State Fair.

"Our first practice was entirely indoors," Eberly said. "We will divide our practices between playing and drilling in the future when weather permits."

Practice sessions have been shifted to begin at 6:30 p. m. and last until 8:30 p. m. Eberly said the hours were changed from the original 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. because of early darkness.

The band is to practice Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week and next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for its coming marching season.

First performance by the CHS musicians will be Sept. 15 during the Circleville-Holy Rosary football game.

New Traffic Gadget Booked For Intersection

Circleville motorists will find a new gadget flickering a warning at them from the center of Court and Main street intersection Saturday night.

The device is a four-vaned affair carrying the information that left turns are against the law. Under an ordinance passed by city council early in August left turns at the intersection are outlawed between 6 p. m. and 10 p. m.

Violators may be fined from $1 to $3.

Council ruled that the new law be placed into effect for a 30-day trial period. Safety Director C. O. Leist said police will set up the portable warning sign "at 6 p. m. on the first Saturday in September." Wind created by passage of autos causes the four-vaned sign to revolve slowly.

difficult to get three qualified members.

The governor also pointed out that draft regulations prohibit Reservists or men under 30 years old from serving on boards. This would bar a majority of World War II veterans.

In the letter to Lausche, the Legion, VFW and DAV members expressed belief that a veteran member could possibly eliminate choice of physical and mental misfits because "a former serviceman will be more aware of the requirements of a good soldier."

Goble, however, pointed out that physical and mental qualifications are not decided on by the boards, but that the matters of a man's mental and physical ability must be determined by the armed forces upon a physical examination."

Virginia Troop In Its 13th War

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 30—The Alexandria light infantry company has marched off to its 13th war.

The National Guard unit, now not even classified as infantry, marched the two miles down King Street—the city's main street—through crowds that couldn't cheer because they had seen too many relatives march to the railroad station and on to combat.

The company was founded in 1693, and has participated in every conflict involving either the United States or the pre-Revolutionary British colonies — since that time.

It was the first Virginia outfit to be called up in World War II, and it is the first Virginia unit to be activated in the Korean war.

Jeweler Slated For Hearing On Stolen Gems

Columbus Jeweler Charles Bissantz is slated to appear Sept. 6 on an accusation of receiving goods stolen last week from an Ashville jewelry store.

Bissantz entered a plea of innocence Tuesday when arraigned in the capital city municipal court. He is accused of receiving and concealing goods stolen from six other stores, also.

Meanwhile, Eugene Waggoner and William Greenwald, both of Columbus, are expected to face preliminary hearings soon on accusations of breaking and entering the seven stores in question.

Nearly $600 in loot was taken from Boyd's jewelry store in Ashville in the theft which led to the arrest of the suspected men.

Vo-Ag Courses Are In Demand

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—A nonpartisan survey showed today that Ohioans want vocational agriculture courses more than any other addition to their school programs.

But the report by the Ohio Citizens Commission for Public Schools also showed school districts must be enlarged to achieve this aim.

The statewide poll showed one-third of the people are primarily interested in vocational education — and rural citizens want agricultural vocational courses more than anything else.

Corn, Soybeans Still Needing More Moisture

the corn crop might be so retarded as to be vulnerable to damage by possible early frost next month.

Therefore, the report continued, the higher average temperatures together with beneficial rains Monday and Tuesday were most welcome.

A period of thunderstorm activity began Monday which produced in two days generous amounts of moisture, especially in west central sections.

Dayton reported the largest amount with 1.90 inches, all of which fell on Tuesday. Eastern counties were less fortunate as regards rainfall amounts, although light showers were well scattered.

Tomatoes in northern counties have been slow to ripen, and in some places have been hit by a blight caused by cool mornings.

However, in general, the crop looks good, the report concluded. Apples in southern sections look good, but ripening is decidely lower than last year.

Skidding Car Brings Injuries To Adelphian

Wet pavement was blamed for an accident on Route 56 about a mile east of Circleville at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in which an Adelphi man was injured.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Radcliff said Willard Hettinger, 34, of Adelphi, told him his auto skidded on the wet pavement, turned around in the highway and crashed rear first into a farm fence.

The impact of the crash tossed the rear of the car back onto the pavement with the front end remaining in the ditch.

Ag Imports Top Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The Agriculture Department reports that for the first time in eight years the U. S. imported more farm products than it exported during the fiscal year ending June 30.

The U. S. exported $3.11 billion worth of agricultural commodities from July, 1949, to June, 1950, and imported a total of $3.176 billion worth during the same period.

The last time imports exceeded exports of farm products was during the fiscal year of 1941-1942. Exports in that year amounted to $1.32 billion, compared to imports of $1.5 billion.

2 NIGHT PARADES BOOKED

Pumpkin Show Float Data Released By Directors

Plans for decorated autos and floats in the coming Circleville Pumpkin Show have been completed by directors of the "world's greatest free show."

The Pumpkin Show is scheduled to begin Oct. 18, run through Oct. 21.

According to the plans, all entries in the decorated autos department will participate in parades Thursday and Friday nights. Winners will be announced following the Friday night parade.

Prizes will range from $10 for first to $3 for eighth, with one dollar knocked off for each step down the line.

All entries not receiving a prize in this class will be awarded a consolation prize of $2.

Directors of Circleville Pumpkin Show Inc. are trying an innovation in the floats department this year. Formerly only the amateur class of floats was judged. This year both commercial and amateur floats will be eligible for prizes.

ALL FLOATS must be mounted on a truck or four-wheel trailer.

There must be at least three entries in each of the two classes for prizes. Otherwise, the directors say, all floats will be judged as one class.

All entries must participate in parades Wednesday night, Thursday afternoon and night and Friday night.

In the commercial class, prizes will be as follows:

1st, $50; 2nd, $40; 3rd, $30; 4th, $25; 5th, $20; 6th, $15; 7th, $10; and 8th, $5.

In the amateur class prizes will be the same with the exception that the eighth prize is omitted. In its place, the directors have ruled that all entries in the amateur class who receive no prize are to be paid $5.

Ex-Countess Becomes Citizen Of America

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—A former German countess, who said she became the wife of a young army lieutenant from Ohio "because he wouldn't stop telephoning me," became an American citizen today among a class of 90 candidates in federal court.

The tall, red-haired former countess, now Mrs. Mochthile Percival, 27, was given the oath by Judge Michael Igoe after she told the court of her life in a German castle, her romance with Lt. James Percival, 27.

Mrs. Percival said she wanted to become a citizen before her husband leaves her and their 2-year-old daughter, Margaret, for the Far East. They now are living in Fort Sheridan, Ill.

She was Countess Mochthile von Arnim, daughter of Count Wilhelm von Arnim, who had a large estate outside of Berlin, Germany, before the war.

"After the war, I worked as a telephone operator in the American occupation headquarters. On the night of Jan. 3, 1946—I shal never forget the date—a young MP came in and placed a call for his mother in Geneva, O.

"IN THOSE DAYS it took three days to put in a call. The MP kept phoning me to check on the call and then started hanging around the office. I finally agreed to go out to dinner with him—if my girl friend went along.

"After that he phoned and phoned—and in March I went out with him alone, and soon we found out we loved each other."

'Doctor' Faces Damage Suit

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30—A former patient has filed a $25,000 suit against Vincent J. Kulka, East Cleveland masseur currently accused of illegal practice of medicine.

The plaintiff, Sarah Gross, who filed suit late yesterday in common pleas court, alleged that she paid Kulka $1,020 for treatments, pills and hypodermics over a period of 27 months.

Miss Gross said Kulka held himself to be a doctor during that time and that she received nothing from the treatments but "great pains, nervous upset and mental anguish."

Steel Industry In Scramble For Materials

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—The Magazine Iron Age said today that the steel industry this week is undergoing one of the wildest scrambles for material ever experienced.

It reported that most steel producers are still trying to meet the demand on a hit-or-miss basis. According to the publication, producers are filling critical government orders as they come along, taking the tonnage out of the customer's regular allotment whenever possible. When they are unable to do this, all allotments are cut back proportionately.

Iron Age noted however, that some companies have a more definite plan. It said these producers have arbitrarily divided their October and November tonnage into two categories as follows:

1. To fill government orders.
2. To fill regular company orders.

As the publication described it, the companies will book government orders against this tonnage until Sept. 15. If government orders total more than they estimated, they will cut back on regular orders during November to fill them. If they underestimated, they will increase some November allotments to regular customers.

Carl Schaffrin, 217 Perry St., St. Charles, Mo., says there are some folks in this old world who feel good and there are other folks who feel bad. The folks who feel good he wants to congratulate for their fine health, but for the folks who feel mighty bad he says he wants them to read what he has to say and then take a word of advice—take HADACOL if you suffer from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron.

Here is what Mr. Schaffrin has to say about HADACOL since it overcame the effects of such deficiencies in his system: "I have been a shoe cutter for over 32 years—I now work for the Boyd Welsh Shoe Co. in St. Louis. For quite a few years now I haven't had any appetite at all—seemed like I didn't have hardly enough energy to do my work. I was tired all the time—and really didn't enjoy doing anything. It affected my work too. Then I heard how other folks who took HADACOL had increased their appetite and seemed to have a limitless amount of energy. I tried HADACOL and it is amazing what a change it has made. Now I feel like eating everything on the table, my disposition is 100% better and my work—in fact, everything I do I now enjoy. For an entirely new outlook on life I recommend HADACOL."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring just symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the cause of neuritis pains, lack of energy, lack of appetite, and a general run-down weakened condition due to such deficiencies in your system.

HADACOL not only supplies deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin but also helpful amounts of important Calcium, Phosphorus and Manganese—elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

Why These Vitamins and Minerals Come In Liquid Form

There's a very good reason why HADACOL comes in special liquid form. These precious Vitamins and Minerals are more easily and quickly absorbed into the blood stream this way—ready to go right to work. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

Now don't keep on wondering if HADACOL will help you. If you have such deficiencies—HADACOL WILL HELP YOU—just as it has thousands upon thousands of grateful souls who were so troubled. GIVE IT A FAIR TRIAL! Remember HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. And so inexpensive. Trial-size bottle, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50.

2 NIGHT PARADES BOOKED

Pumpkin Show Float Data Released By Directors

Plans for decorated autos and floats in the coming Circleville Pumpkin Show have been completed by directors of the "world's greatest free show."

The Pumpkin Show is scheduled to begin Oct. 18, run through Oct. 21.

According to the plans, all entries in the decorated autos department will participate in parades Thursday and Friday nights. Winners will be announced following the Friday night parade.

Prizes will range from $10 for first to $3 for eighth, with one dollar knocked off for each step down the line.

All entries not receiving a prize in this class will be awarded a consolation prize of $2.

Directors of Circleville Pumpkin Show Inc. are trying an innovation in the floats department this year. Formerly only the amateur class of floats was judged. This year both commercial and amateur floats will be eligible for prizes.

ALL FLOATS must be mounted on a truck or four-wheel trailer.

There must be at least three entries in each of the two classes for prizes. Otherwise, the directors say, all floats will be judged as one class.

All entries must participate in parades Wednesday night, Thursday afternoon and night and Friday night.

In the commercial class, prizes will be as follows:

1st, $50; 2nd, $40; 3rd, $30; 4th, $25; 5th, $20; 6th, $15; 7th, $10; and 8th, $5.

In the amateur class prizes will be the same with the exception that the eighth prize is omitted. In its place, the directors have ruled that all entries in the amateur class who receive no prize are to be paid $5.

Ex-Countess Becomes Citizen Of America

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—A former German countess, who said she became the wife of a young army lieutenant from Ohio "because he wouldn't stop telephoning me," became an American citizen today among a class of 90 candidates in federal court.

The tall, red-haired former countess, now Mrs. Mochthile Percival, 27, was given the oath by Judge Michael Igoe after she told the court of her life in a German castle, her romance with Lt. James Percival, 27.

Mrs. Percival said she wanted to become a citizen before her husband leaves her and their 2-year-old daughter, Margaret, for the Far East. They now are living in Fort Sheridan, Ill.

She was Countess Mochthile von Arnim, daughter of Count Wilhelm von Arnim, who had a large estate outside of Berlin, Germany, before the war.

"After the war, I worked as a telephone operator in the American occupation headquarters. On the night of Jan. 3, 1946—I shal never forget the date—a young MP came in and placed a call for his mother in Geneva, O.

"IN THOSE DAYS it took three days to put in a call. The MP kept phoning me to check on the call and then started hanging around the office. I finally agreed to go out to dinner with him—if my girl friend went along.

"After that he phoned and phoned—and in March I went out with him alone, and soon we found out we loved each other."

Sweden and New Zealand have the lowest mortality rates of all countries.

'Doctor' Faces Damage Suit

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30—A former patient has filed a $25,000 suit against Vincent J. Kulka, East Cleveland masseur currently accused of illegal practice of medicine.

The plaintiff, Sarah Gross, who filed suit late yesterday in common pleas court, alleged that she paid Kulka $1,020 for treatments, pills and hypodermics over a period of 27 months.

Miss Gross said Kulka held himself to be a doctor during that time and that she received nothing from the treatments but "great pains, nervous upset and mental anguish."

Local 4-H Clubbers Show Well In Ohio State Fair

Pickaway County 4-H Club youngsters are making a name for themselves during the Ohio State Fair in Columbus.

Local contestants in various contests and events in the fair are showing up in the top division of the state against keen competition.

Arthur Dick of Monroe Township won second place in the 4-H Club tractor rodeo Monday, losing the championship title by only a meagre margin of 1.22 points.

The Monroe Township lad scored 244.04 points in the contest, the first of its kind in the state fair, but was edged out by James Jaberg of Holmes County, who scored 245.26.

Merle Thomas, associate county agent, said that the local boy made only one mistake during his performance. The lad nudged a corner stake while attempting to back a four-wheeled trailer into a "barn."

MEANWHILE, the beef judging team from Pickaway County stood out in second place in the state with a total of 1722 points from a possible 1800.

The local team was edged out of first place by a team from Union County, which won with a total of 1731 points.

Members of the beef judging team were Carl Reichelderfer of Saltcreek Township, Jack Timmons and Ronnie Carpenter, both of Monroe Township.

Carpenter also scored high in the individual judging contest following team competition.

The Monroe livestock judge won sixth place in the state by scoring 585 points out of a possible total of 600 in the contest.

Pickaway County's general livestock team also earned a rank in the fair. The team earned 15th place with a total of 1,409 out of 1,800.

Members of the general team were Jim Hamman of Perry Township, John Stevenson of Wayne Township and Darrell Norris of Washington Township.

The local dairy judging team failed to place in its contest, although Wilson Martin of Walnut Township ranked fifth in the state in the individual competition.

MARTIN SCORED 711 points out of a possible 800 for the award.

Other members of the dairy team were Don Schleich of Williamsport and Johnny Graffis of Washington Township.

Teegardin's heifer won first in her beef breeding division of the junior show, while earning the title of reserve champion of the show.

In addition, his lightweight steers ranked first and third in their classes during the steer show.

In addition, John Rush of Orient Route 1 and Robert Rager of Amanda Route 1 fared well during Monday's swine shows.

Rager scored third place in the Future Farmers of America breeding swine show with his Chester White gilt, while being selected the top swine showman of the show.

Rush's mature boar in the open class swine show was chosen grand champion boar of the show, while winning senior champion boar, junior yearling boar pig and senior boar pig.

Also, Rush's sows won the senior sow pig and junior spring sow pig honors during the mature sow show.

CAROLYN MARTIN of Circleville, this year's Pickaway County health achievement award winner, is expected to be interviewed for statewide judging Thursday afternoon.

Miss Martin was described as "the most healthiest girl I have examined in 4-H Club work" by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Pickaway County has won the state health achievement award title twice during the last three years.

Howard Wins Prize For Design

The son of a former Circleville man has been awarded a prize for designing a T-shirt monogram.

He is Robert Howard of Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard of the capital city and nephew of Mrs. John Riley of East High street.

Howard, a student in a New York City fashion school, won the award by designing a pattern to be used for college wear.

Speech Specialist Is Hired Here

Helen Long of Ohio State university has been employed by the Circleville board of education to teach speech classes here this year.

The new teacher was employed to correct speech defects in Circleville youngsters. She specialized in speech therapy in OSU.

Fischer said the new teacher was employed when Mrs. Shirley Silberstein of Ohio university declined the board's offer.

Brannan Sets Speaking Tour

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Agriculture Secretary Brannan slowly is hammering a Fall stumping tour together for the important congressional elections in November.

Although the war in Korea and what it means to the nation's economy overshadows most other campaign issues this Fall, Brannan is still expected to stump for his production payment farm plan.

Here are the places he already has decided upon for speaking engagements:

Sept. 8, Democratic Midwest Conference, Detroit Lakes, Minn.; Sept. 20, meeting of state commissioners, directors and secretaries of agriculture, Springfield, Ill.; Oct. 10, Future Farmers of America annual meeting, Kansas, City, Mo.; Oct. 17, a grocery trade association, Cincinnati, and Oct. 25, a discussion forum in New York.

Local 4-H Clubbers Show Well In Ohio State Fair

Pickaway County 4-H Club youngsters are making a name for themselves during the Ohio State Fair in Columbus.

Local contestants in various contests and events in the fair are showing up in the top division of the state against keen competition.

Arthur Dick of Monroe Township won second place in the 4-H Club tractor rodeo Monday, losing the championship title by only a meagre margin of 1.22 points.

The Monroe Township lad scored 244.04 points in the contest, the first of its kind in the state fair, but was edged out by James Jaberg of Holmes County, who scored 245.26.

Merle Thomas, associate county agent, said that the local boy made only one mistake during his performance. The lad nudged a corner stake while attempting to back a four-wheeled trailer into a "barn."

MEANWHILE, the beef judging team from Pickaway County stood out in second place in the state with a total of 1722 points from a possible 1800.

The local team was edged out of first place by a team from Union County, which won with a total of 1731 points.

Members of the beef judging team were Carl Reichelderfer of Saltcreek Township, Jack Timmons and Ronnie Carpenter, both of Monroe Township.

Carpenter also scored high in the individual judging contest following team competition.

The Monroe livestock judge won sixth place in the state by scoring 585 points out of a possible total of 600 in the contest.

Pickaway County's general livestock team also earned a rank in the fair. The team earned 15th place with a total of 1,409 out of 1,800.

Members of the general team were Jim Hamman of Perry Township, John Stevenson of Wayne Township and Darrell Norris of Washington Township.

The local dairy judging team failed to place in its contest, although Wilson Martin of Walnut Township ranked fifth in the state in the individual competition.

MARTIN SCORED 711 points out of a possible 800 for the award.

Other members of the dairy team were Don Schleich of Williamsport and Johnny Graffis of Washington Township.

In addition, his lightweight steers ranked first and third in their classes during the steer show.

In addition, John Rush of Orient Route 1 and Robert Rager of Amanda Route 1 fared well during Monday's swine shows.

Rager scored third place in the Future Farmers of America breeding swine show with his Chester White gilt, while being selected the top swine showman of the show.

Rush's mature boar in the open class swine show was chosen grand champion boar of the show, while winning senior champion boar, junior yearling boar pig and senior boar pig.

Also, Rush's sows won the senior sow pig and junior spring sow pig honors during the mature sow show.

CAROLYN MARTIN of Circleville, this year's Pickaway County health achievement award winner, is expected to be interviewed for statewide judging Thursday afternoon.

Miss Martin was described as "the most healthiest girl I have examined in 4-H Club work" by Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Howard Wins Prize For Design

The son of a former Circleville man has been awarded a prize for designing a T-shirt monogram.

He is Robert Howard of Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard of the capital city and nephew of Mrs. John Riley of East High street.

Speech Specialist Is Hired Here

Helen Long of Ohio State university has been employed by the Circleville board of education to teach speech classes here this year.

The new teacher was employed to correct speech defects in Circleville youngsters. She specialized in speech therapy in OSU.

Fischer said the new teacher was employed when Mrs. Shirley Silberstein of Ohio university declined the board's offer.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE

Last night at Lindy's a bunch of us were making small talk between big mouthfuls, and as per usual the conversation ran the full gamut—from girls to girls.

A little before closing time we got around to a well-known Power's model who had been going steady with a press agent pal of ours, and who was recently lured away from him by the financial blandishments of a well-heeled heel.

"All lady-stealers ought to be buried up to their necks in sand and the ants turned loose," said Mark Barron who covers the theatre for A. P.

"In Cuba," said Charlie Moses, the film distributor, "they have even more interesting punishments than that for damenappers. As a matter of fact, there's one particular story they've been telling for years down there which illustrates how they let the punishment fit the clime."

"Spare us the puns," I said, "and let's have the story in a few easy paragraphs—"

ACCORDING to Charlie, it all happened a hundred and something years ago when Cuba was under Spanish rule.

One day at a fiesta, a scrumptious senorita named Josefina was having herself a time with her boy friend, a prepossessing but peso-less caballero named Roberto, when she caught the lecherous eye of Jose de Cordoba, an old bum of a count who had a large estate outside Havana.

The titled bum found out where she lived and made the usual underhanded overtures, but when the senorita informed him that his presence and presents were equally obnoxious, he had her kidnapped and taken to his hacienda.

Roberto had a pretty good idea who was responsible for the snatch but he needed proof, so he disguised himself as a mendicant friar and fast-talked his way into the Count's house. There he struck up an acquaintance with the cook, and when he found that his lady friend was being held under lock and key in a second floor room, he hotfooted it back to Havana.

THE SPANISH Governor-General at the time was one Miguel Tacon, a tough-minded hombre who believed in an eye for an eye and a whole upper plate for a tooth. And when Roberto told him what had happened he ordered his soldiers to arrest the Count and bring him and Josefina to the Governmental Palace.

An hour later, the pretty one and her abductor were brought before him, and after bawling the bejabbers out of the Count he decreed the punishment: The pair were to be married immediately and he, himself, would perform the ceremony. Which he did, while poor Roberto looked on—plenty bothered and bewildered. Getting hitched to Josefina was not his idea of punishment.

After the nuptials, the Governor-General told the Count he was free to take his bride back to his hacienda. A few minutes out of town, however, a detachment of soldiers, acting on Tacon's orders, ambushed the newlyweds, shot the bridegroom in hot blood and escorted Josefina back to the palace.

"You were legally married to the Count," the Governor told her in his best Solomon manner, "and are therefore his legitimate widow. As such, you are heir to all his worldly goods and possessions, which I understand are considerable. You are also free to marry anyone you wish, and if Roberto still appeals to you I'd be delighted to do the honors."

Wife Granted Divorce Here

A divorce has been granted in Pickaway County common pleas court to Ella Jean Dunn from Cloyd Dale Dunn.

Judge Earl Parker found the husband guilty of gross neglect and extreme cruelty. The couple was married Dec. 5, 1942. They have two children, ages six and seven years.

Custody of the children was granted to the wife. The husband was ordered to pay $30 a week for their support.

Farmers Urged Use Caution In Future Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Federal officials are asking farmers not to "shoot the works" in a wild agricultural planting spree in view of the Korean war.

These officials urge caution. They warn that this is not the time for pushing aside conservation measures and good planting practices. On the other hand, they are asking for more strict adherance to such practices.

They point out that food stocks on hand and production prospects indicate "quite adequate" supplies for normal consumption for at least the next six to nine months.

The Agriculture Department wants farmers to build up soil reserves now—rather than use them up wildly. And, instead of putting off until Spring some work that can be done now, officials urge they be done now.

Especially should they be done now, they say, if they require the use of machinery consuming gas and oil. They indicate that if the world situation gets worse, it may not be possible to do some of the things that are planned for next spring.

In other words, federal farm officials want farmers to think and plan with a wary eye out to the international situation.

U.S. Limits Sugar Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — Uncle Sam let it be known today that from now on he isn't going to be so "sweet" to his neighbors.

The government is circulating a new order limiting exports of U. S. sugar as of Sept. 1.

It was explained that the order, which does not affect Canada, is to be a guarantee that "recent (government) sugar purchases to meet U. S. requirements will not be dissipated."

AMERICA'S FAVORITE

Increase Corn Profits WITH THE FAMOUS DEARBORN-WOOD BROS. CORN PICKER

THE RESULT OF 50 YEARS of Wood Bros. experience in building harvesting machinery, this great picker has become America's favorite—for good reasons. IT IS FAST because the corn moves through it freely. IT SAVES FIELD LOSSES through efficient lifting of downed corn and better prevention of dropped ears and shelling. It HUSKS THOROUGHLY BUT GENTLY, setting a new high standard for trash-free, undamaged ears that grade higher and keep better. It PULLS EASILY, using any two-plow tractor with A.S.A.E. standard P.T.O. and hitch. And it is ECONOMICAL to buy and maintain.

Big, Gentle-Action Husking Bed

13¾" wide, 37½" long with not four but six rolls (3 rubber against 3 steel) for efficient, gentle husking. Big capacity handles heavy yields without reducing speed. No matter how many rows a picker is made for, a clogged husking bed can slow you down. Choose a Dearborn-Wood Bros. with its big husking bed.

Flexible, Floating Points with 3 Gathering Chains

Picker can be raised or lowered and points tilted up or down to catch high and low ears, and downed corn. Since this is a one-row picker, points can always be kept centered on the row, even in rows as narrow as 26 inches, crooked rows or leaning corn. Not two but three gathering chains—to keep corn moving in and loose ears from rolling out.

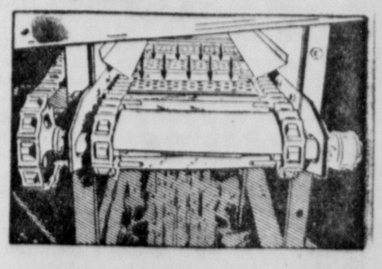

Exclusive Rotary Snapping Bar

In rank corn growth this bar completes the snapping job by getting any ears missed by the snapping rolls. Also acts to handle heavy trash that might clog the picker. Only Dearborn-Wood Bros. has this feature.

Corn Saver Collects Shelled Corn

Mighty little shelled corn! And what there is drops through holes in the "Corn Saver" screen to be carried up the elevator into the wagon. Husks are raked off the screen and fall to ground.

BE READY! Let us show you all about this Great Corn Picker NOW!

They point out that food stocks on hand and production prospects indicate "quite adequate" supplies for normal consumption for at least the next six to nine months.

The Agriculture Department wants farmers to build up soil reserves now—rather than use them up wildly. And, instead of putting off until Spring some work that can be done now, officials urge they be done now.

Especially should they be done now, they say, if they require the use of machinery consuming gas and oil. They indicate that if the world situation gets worse, it may not be possible to do some of the things that are planned for next spring.

In other words, federal farm officials want farmers to think and plan with a wary eye out to the international situation.

U.S. Limits Sugar Exports

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — Uncle Sam let it be known today that from now on he isn't going to be so "sweet" to his neighbors.

The government is circulating a new order limiting exports of U. S. sugar as of Sept. 1.

It was explained that the order, which does not affect Canada, is to be a guarantee that "recent (government) sugar purchases to meet U. S. requirements will not be dissipated."

THE RESULT OF 50 YEARS of Wood Bros. experience in building harvesting machinery, this great picker has become America's favorite—for good reasons. IT IS FAST because the corn moves through it freely. IT SAVES FIELD LOSSES through efficient lifting of downed corn and better prevention of dropped ears and shelling. It HUSKS THOROUGHLY BUT GENTLY, setting a new high standard for trash-free, undamaged ears that grade higher and keep better. It PULLS EASILY, using any two-plow tractor with A.S.A.E. standard P.T.O. and hitch. And it is ECONOMICAL to buy and maintain.

Big, Gentle-Action Husking Bed

13¾" wide, 37½" long with not four but six rolls (3 rubber against 3 steel) for efficient, gentle husking. Big capacity handles heavy yields without reducing speed. No matter how many rows a picker is made for, a clogged husking bed can slow you down. Choose a Dearborn-Wood Bros. with its big husking bed.

Flexible, Floating Points with 3 Gathering Chains

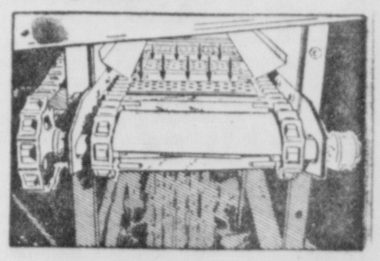

Picker can be raised or lowered and points tilted up or down to catch high and low ears, and downed corn. Since this is a one-row picker, points can always be kept centered on the row, even in rows as narrow as 26 inches, crooked rows or leaning corn. Not two but three gathering chains—to keep corn moving in and loose ears from rolling out.

Exclusive Rotary Snapping Bar

In rank corn growth this bar completes the snapping job by getting any ears missed by the snapping rolls. Also acts to handle heavy trash that might clog the picker. Only Dearborn-Wood Bros. has this feature.

Corn Saver Collects Shelled Corn

Mighty little shelled corn! And what there is drops through holes in the "Corn Saver" screen to be carried up the elevator into the wagon. Husks are raked off the screen and fall to ground.

LET'S CHOOSE THE BETTER MAN

Look magazine has announced that in a poll of 100 of Washington's top correspondents Senator Taft was chosen by an overwhelming vote as the one "who contributes most to the nation's welfare." These correspondents know what they are talking about. "Taft is the best senator," the newspapermen said by a huge majority in a second poll.

Bob Taft has been a member of the U. S. Senate since January 1, 1939. In these 12 years he has represented all the people of Ohio without fear or favor. He has never stooped to petty partisan politics. He says and does what he feels is best for the public interest.

The United States is facing grave times ahead. Now, as never before in history, do we need sound, capable and dependable leadership to cope with our problems.

Taft exemplifies that sort of leadership. Nobody questions his ability, competence and integrity. He is widely recognized and accepted as a statesman whose colleagues respect his opinions and judgment.

He has been a bitter critic of policies which he believed threatened American principles of freedom and opportunity. He has been a watchdog of the public treasury and has insisted on sound fiscal policies. At the same time he has provided the leadership for a program of governmental assistance to insure a decent standard of health, housing, education for all the people so that all might have an equal opportunity to get ahead.

Troubles besetting us as individuals and as a nation require that we choose carefully on Election Day. We must avoid being spread so thickly, and in our hearts determine the only question before us. There are two candidates for the Senate—we must send the better man to Washington. The better man is Taft.

The First City Troop of Philadelphia, oldest army unit in continuous service, has always been composed of recruits selected from Philadelphia's socially prominent families. Now going back to active duty, it is taking general enlistments for the first time. That's one more score to be charged against the Reds.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The revolt of the pro-Americans in the Radio Writers Guild continues. James A. Stabile, executive secretary, on August 17, resigned for these reasons:

"I, among others, pleaded with the council to take a forth-right stand on the resolution, which called for the formation of a writers' group through which writers in all media could volunteer their services to our country during this crisis. Instead, the council adopted a resolution which in my considered judgment qualifies the positive and forthright action that the situation called for."

This was followed by the resignation of Daisy Amoury, a member of its council, because:

"Finding myself completely out of sympathy with certain actions and policies of the RWG council, it has become necessary for me to send you my resignation as a member of council, effective immediately."

The resolution over which this quarrel developed should have been pro forma in any American organization. It simply offered full support to our government in time of war, when other Americans are dying for their country. Yet, this particular organization, the Radio Writers Guild, is so committed and organized and manned that it could not see such a simple matter through.

Radio writers are an important segment of the instruments for expression and education. Our children listen to the radio even as they do their homework. While the soap operas and westerns and murders seem simple enough, I have at times wondered why so little that is heroic in American life is put before them. Are we so devoted to murder, to shooting and shrieking that little or nothing else interests our children? Is murder our principal sport?

I am told that the advertising agencies advise the sponsors that this sort of thing is the best fare for radio because it is safe. It is non-political, non-ideological, non-controversial.

But are the minds of our children to be corrupted because advertising men find that safer than a controversy over some fine character in American history?

Some time ago, Elizabeth Winston Todd appeared before the House Committee on unAmerican Activities. She gave as her profession, associate director, working for the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. Then she was asked the usual question:

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground that my answer might tend to incriminate me."

And this went on for some time. For instance, this colloquy occurred:

"Mr. Russell. Mrs. Todd, do you believe in the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me.

DIET AND HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CONVALESCENCE is the period of restoration of health after disease, injury, or operation. This getting-well period involves a definite body process . . . the rebuilding of body tissues which have been torn down during illness or as a consequence of operation, and regaining lost weight.

Important in Convalescence

One of the important things during convalescence is to make sure that the patient is in what is called "positive nitrogen balance." Nitrogen is contained in protein foods and in the proteins of the body tissues. When the amount of nitrogen taken in the form of protein is equal to the amount of nitrogen excreted in the urine and bowel movements, the patient is in nitrogen balance. When more is taken in than is excreted, the patient is in a positive nitrogen balance; that is, the nitrogen in the form of protein is being retained in the body to be used to form new tissue.

The chief factor in maintaining a positive nitrogen balance is the use of a proper diet. The diet should be high in the right kinds of proteins, but it must also contain sufficient starchy foods, sugars, and fats. If this is not done, the proteins will be used to supply energy to the body and will not be employed for building up the tissues.

The calories or heat units in such a rebuilding diet, as well as under normal conditions, should be made up of six parts of starchy foods and fats to one part of protein. For example, if the diet contains a total of 3500 calories, 500 of these should come from proteins, and the remainder from starchy foods, sweets, and fats. On this basis, about four ounces of proteins would be needed in the diet each day. It does no good to increase the protein unless, at the same time, fats and carbohydrates, too, are increased.

It is also a matter of interest that the giving of testosterone, which is a secretion from the male sex gland, seems to increase the retaining of proteins by the body. Thus, it is stated this preparation may be of especial value when the patient cannot take a great quantity of food.

High in Proteins

To speed up convalescence, patients are often given mixtures made up, for example, of skimmed milk, eggs, and sugar. Such mixtures are high in proteins and are easily taken by the patient. It is also helpful in speeding up convalescence to use these in addition to high protein diets prior to operations.

A steady gain in weight of about three pounds a week in an underweight person indicates successful treatment. More rapid gains, as a rule, are not possible because the patient cannot take larger quantities of food.

The Black Rose

by THOMAS B. COSTAIN

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

MARYAM seated herself between them, drawing her skirts tightly about her to save them from dust and grease. "I am not hungry," she said. "But you must have supper without more talk. I shall sit here until you are through."

Tristram dipped a hand in the kettle and began to eat. His appetite was enormous under any and all circumstances. Walter did not follow his example at once. He found it hard to take his eyes from the girl's face. He was fascinated by her lashes, which were black and of a most unusual length. She looked up once and favored him with a steady look, then dropped her eyes again to study her fingers, only the tips of which showed beneath the ends of her close-fitting sleeves.

He found that one glance disconcerting in the extreme. She was not only lovely to look at but different from any woman he had ever seen. Lu Chung had called her the Black Rose, and he was sure now that this came closest to the true explanation; she had a quality which suggested the fine tang of that rare spice. "The Black Rose," he said to himself. "That is the name for her."

Tristram got to his feet slowly. "Our little rascal of a Mahmoud will be hungry," he said. "I will take his place outside."

Maryam arose to get a pair of small, ivory-handled scissors. "My hair has grown too long," she complained. "I have trimmed it in front, but I can't cut it properly in the back." She looked at Walter and smiled, holding up the scissors. "Please. Will you cut my hair in the back?"

She seated herself beside him with her back turned and her head bent down to facilitate the work. Walter put a thumb and forefinger into the ivory handles, finding them a close fit. He looked hesitantly at he jet tangle of hair.

"I am very clumsy," he objected, "and I fear I shall make a botch of this. Perhaps it would be better if Tris cut it."

"Perhaps it would be better if you cut it," said the girl determinedly.

He gingerly clipped off the end of one strand which fell on the palm of his other hand. "How much am I to cut?"

She held up one finger and touched the first joint with her other hand. "About that much. But be very sure not to cut more. My head is small, and I do not want to look like a mouse drowned in a jug."

He worked slowly, acutely aware of her nearness, of the youthful hollows in her neck and the delicate prettiness of her ears, of the barely perceptible trace of perfume which reached him whenever she moved. The perfume was a new variety to him, a very subtle kind and quite different from what Engaine had used. Once she leaned back, and her shoulders rested against him. She drew away at once, but he had caught a glimpse of the gentle curve of her breasts under the gold pallium. He had to fight an impulse to drop the scissors and gather her up in his arms.

He was now sorely at odds with himself. Love had always meant to him the silent and rapt adoration of his inaccessible Engaine. He wanted to feel sure that what he was beginning to feel for Maryam had no relation to this lower order of things. Could it be, then, that he was permitting her to share the realm of his mind and heart which belonged exclusively to Engaine?

Walter sat back and held the scissors out to her. "There! I think it is done. Look in your mirror and see if you are satisfied."

She rose slowly and returned back of her curtain. After a few moments she called: "It is good. You have been most clever with the scissors. Thank you, Walter."

"Our poor Tris is still out in the cold. It is now my turn to stand watch."

"No, it will not be necessary. I think now I must take this dress off. And it will be the last time I shall wear it. I know you think it is very dangerous . . . Walter?"

"Yes."

She appeared at the end of the curtain and looked at him with an appeal in her eyes.

"Please. I want you to think of me just as I am, and not as I will have to look after this."

A few nights later he played chess with Bayan and when he returned the yurt was in darkness. The steady breathing of Tristram and the snoring of Mahmoud testified that both were sound asleep. There were sounds of stirring, however, from behind the curtain. Maryam crawled stealthily to the end of it and whispered, "Walter!"

He followed her example until their heads were no more than a few feet apart. She reached out a hand and touched him to assure herself that he was near enough to hear her. There was silence for a space, and then she said: "You have never talked to me about England. There is so much I want to know. You will take me back there, won't you?"

"Life in England is very different. It is not as easy as in the East, and the climate is wet and cold. Are you sure you would want to change your whole way of living?"

"All that is of no importance!" she whispered with an intensity that surprised him. "Now that I know I am English, I want to be completely English. I want to live in my father's country no matter how different it may be. And," she touched his arm again, "do you think I would want to be left behind?"

She began to ask him questions about his life at home. Once started, he told her of the strange menage in which he had been raised at Gurnie, of his Oxford days, and finally of the events which resulted in his departure. She was avid to know everything, but her chief interest, he sensed, was in Engaine and the relationship which had existed between them.

"Does it not seem to you possible that your Engaine has acted selfishly?" she asked.

"Because she was prepared to marry my half-brother? That was not a matter of choice entirely with her. Both fathers were set on the match, and that made it difficult for her to refuse."

"But did she want to refuse?"

Walter was compelled to answer, "I cannot be sure."

When she spoke again it was clear she was assuming that she would go to England. She began to ask questions of a less personal nature.

"I am so very ignorant of everything," she said regretfully. "It is not thought proper for women of the East to have learning. I have never seen a book. What would I do if I were in your country? It would be very difficult."

"English women have very little learning. I doubt if many of them have seen a book either."

She said with sudden vehemence: "I want to be like you in everything! It would hurt me very much if you were ashamed of me."

"And you want to marry an Englishman?"

There was a moment of tense silence. "Yes!" she whispered. "I want to marry an Englishman!"

Without knowing how it came about, he found that they were lying side by side and that his arm was around her neck. He drew her still closer until he could feel her heart beating wildly against his side.

"How weak I am!" she whispered. "I talk of learning to be like the ladies of your country, and then I—I let you hold me like this, when I know that you love your Engaine." After a moment she added, "But I think perhaps you are coming to like me a little too."

"I have been struggling against it," he answered. "I know that I have been breaking a solemn pledge."

"A pledge? Are words so important? Does not the state of your heart decide?"

He drew her around until she was completely within his arms, her whole body pressed against his. She lay there unresistingly and he was aware of the touch of one bare foot against his foot.

"Perhaps she is married," she said, in a breathless tone. "You won't know until you return, and that can't be for several years. Perhaps—you will come to think less of her as time goes on."

Suddenly her mood underwent a change. She struggled out of his arms and sat up.

"You will think ill of me," she said, her voice raised above the point of caution. "You will think me bold and forward. I said I did not want you ever to feel ashamed of me; and now I am ashamed of myself."

He had raised himself to a sitting position also. She moved further away on her couch of boughs.

"I think you had better go back, Walter," she said.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Paul Gallico

NEW YORK—To anyone who has paid more than casual attention to it, it is the most obvious fact in the world that men are more vain than women. All you have to do is wander along any subway platform and see which sex uses the mirrors on the gum machines the most. But Eve Wygod, a member in good standing of our sinful community, is one of the few souls to turn the obvious fact into money.

Miss Wygod, a large and bland woman, operates a beauty salon for men, high up in a Fifth avenue office building. I bearded her—figuratively, that is—there today, skillfully avoided her attempts to lure me into a room full of more strange-looking machines than a Frankenstein movie, and discussed her art with her.

Actually, her salon is not as sinister as it may sound. It is a commercial affair and she does solicit business from the average man, but a good deal of her trade comes from men in show business—stage leading men, television actors and the like. Miss Wygod and her 16 male and female assistants cut, color and wave hair, give back, neck and scalp treatments, preside over facials and, in general, try to make a new man of you. They do not cleanse your soul but they do about everything else.

"The stage juvenile who may be prematurely gray comes to us in order that he can get a job," Miss Wygod told me. "We touch up his hair, and presto—he eats. He has to get it re-touched about every six weeks. Then we get actors who want to change their appearance so they'll fit into a new stage personality, and we do that, too."

The salon is flexible to an almost grotesque point. They have steam treatments to help hay fever sufferers and they have a vibrating bed that is so comfortable that the other day a television actor settled in it for a quick vibrate and fell sound asleep for two hours. The hair-cutting is done by both men and women, "and they all are under strict orders not to talk, especially about business or the horses, unless the customer wants."

THE MEN'S BEAUTY SALON business requires a special license, and when Miss Wygod set up her place a couple of years ago, her license application so upset state officials in Albany that they sent a special representative down to New York, she said, to try and talk her out of the idea. She was confusing the department, the representative told her wistfully. But she stuck to her guns, and today she is fully engaged in making the New York man beautiful.

"Paul Gallico, the writer," Miss Wygod recalled, "once came in here and asked for 'the works.' That's about a two-hour procedure, and while we were engaged in trying to make a new man out of him, we wondered dubiously whether he was going to hold us up to ridicule. But he wrote a piece about it a couple of weeks later and said it was wonderful, and that anyone who went back to plain barber shops after this was just crazy."

Miss Wygod has been razoring the barbers for some time now. "They're 75 years behind the times," she said, and it wasn't as if she was talking behind their backs, because she told them that to their face at a convention some time ago. I didn't get around to asking the barbers how they felt about her, but since many barbers in New York these days make more out of their bookie business than haircutting, I doubt they are too distressed by her.

THE WYGOD SALON has an annex, too; in the building next door, Miss W. has set up a television registry and for a percentage, she supplies studios with actors. They are separate businesses but they dovetail in a way. If a call comes in for a sultry blonde temptress, Miss Wygod is apt to look over her file cards, pick out some pert little brunet with dimples and fetch her over to the men's beauty salon, where, in a separate room devoted to the ladies (actually the place is kind of co-ed), she will make over the brunet into Mae West.

A lot of big names in show business use Miss Wygod's talents but she keeps their identity discretely to herself. She also has still another annex—a room where she keeps a seamstress at work, whipping up costumes for her television registrants. In fact, everything but a floor show goes on at the place. They have a green piano in the swanky reception room and Miss W. is going to hold weekly auditions after hours there, starting shortly. As I was leaving, she eyed my summer crew-cut. "Never wear your hair that way," she said. "Now, if you'll let me"—but I escaped into the hall and was gone. Just an uncouth oaf.

Kiernan's

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Although the Army is operating the railroads it is not necessary to salute the conductor.

And except in extraordinary circumstances he will continue to call "all aboard," not "fall in."

The purpose of seizing the railroads is to enable employes to work while striking. This is a nice arrangement under which everyone continues to labor for the same wage he is against taking any longer.

There was only one hitch in the changeover from private to government operation. Seven railroad presidents had to get the buttons moved on their Eisenhower jackets.

For the moment they are all colonels, responsible to the commander-in - chief and the union generals.

But there is no truth to the report that new diesels are coming out with bugles and turret guns.

The public will notice hardly any difference in the operation of the roads and commuters are requested not to refer to themselves as "evacuees."

The moon's surface is about 14,685,000 square miles — about four times the area of Europe.

Try, Stop Me

Stupper Bigelow, of Toronto, relays the tale of a young doctor who hung up his shingle in a small town and waited for his first patient. Some days later one arrived—covered from head to foot with an angry, dangerous-looking rash. The puzzled young medico hastily consulted his text book but could find no help there. Finally he said to the patient, "Did you ever have this affliction before?" "Oh, sure, Doc," the patient replied. "I've had it twice before." "Well, damnation," diagnosed the doctor, "you've got it again."

LET'S CHOOSE THE BETTER MAN

Look magazine has announced that in a poll of 100 of Washington's top correspondents Senator Taft was chosen by an overwhelming vote as the one "who contributes most to the nation's welfare." These correspondents know what they are talking about. "Taft is the best senator," the newspapermen said by a huge majority in a second poll.

Bob Taft has been a member of the U. S. Senate since January 1, 1939. In these 12 years he has represented all the people of Ohio without fear or favor. He has never stooped to petty partisan politics. He says and does what he feels is best for the public interest.

The United States is facing grave times ahead. Now, as never before in history, do we need sound, capable and dependable leadership to cope with our problems.

Taft exemplifies that sort of leadership. Nobody questions his ability, competence and integrity. He is widely recognized and accepted as a statesman whose colleagues respect his opinions and judgment.

He has been a bitter critic of policies which he believed threatened American principles of freedom and opportunity. He has been a watchdog of the public treasury and has insisted on sound fiscal policies. At the same time he has provided the leadership for a program of governmental assistance to insure a decent standard of health, housing, education for all the people so that all might have an equal opportunity to get ahead.

Troubles besetting us as individuals and as a nation require that we choose carefully on Election Day. We must avoid being spread so thickly, and in our hearts determine the only question before us. There are two candidates for the Senate—we must send the better man to Washington. The better man is Taft.

The First City Troop of Philadelphia, oldest army unit in continuous service, has always been composed of recruits selected from Philadelphia's socially prominent families. Now going back to active duty, it is taking general enlistments for the first time. That's one more score to be charged against the Reds.

George Bernard Shaw is reported to be writing a new play, about a struggle between a man and a woman in which the woman wins. An old theatrical hand like Shaw ought to know that the customers want fiction, not realism.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The revolt of the pro-Americans in the Radio Writers Guild continues. James A. Stabile, executive secretary, on August 17, resigned for these reasons:

"I, among others, pleaded with the council to take a forth-right stand on the resolution, which called for the formation of a writers' group through which writers in all media could volunteer their services to our country during this crisis. Instead, the council adopted a resolution which in my considered judgment qualifies the positive and forthright action that the situation called for."

This was followed by the resignation of Daisy Amoury, a member of its council, because:

"Finding myself completely out of sympathy with certain actions and policies of the RWG council, it has become necessary for me to send you my resignation as a member of council, effective immediately."

The resolution over which this quarrel developed should have been pro forma in any American organization. It simply offered full support to our government in time of war, when other Americans are dying for their country. Yet, this particular organization, the Radio Writers Guild, is so committed and organized and manned that it could not see such a simple matter through.

Radio writers are an important segment of the instruments for expression and education. Our children listen to the radio even as they do their homework. While the soap operas and westerns and murders seem simple enough, I have at times wondered why so little that is heroic in American life is put before them. Are we so devoted to murder, to shooting and shrieking that little or nothing else interests our children? Is murder our principal sport?

I am told that the advertising agencies advise the sponsors that this sort of thing is the best fare for radio because it is safe. It is non-political, non-ideological, non-controversial.

But are the minds of our children to be corrupted because advertising men find that safer than a controversy over some fine character in American history?

Some time ago, Elizabeth Winston Todd appeared before the House Committee on unAmerican Activities. She gave as her profession, associate director, working for the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc. Then she was asked the usual question:

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground that my answer might tend to incriminate me."

And this went on for some time. For instance, this colloquy occurred:

"Mr. Russell. Mrs. Todd, do you believe in the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me.

DIET AND HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CONVALESCENCE is the period of restoration of health after disease, injury, or operation. This getting-well period involves a definite body process . . . the rebuilding of body tissues which have been torn down during illness or as a consequence of operation, and regaining lost weight.

Important in Convalescence

One of the important things during convalescence is to make sure that the patient is in what is called "positive nitrogen balance." Nitrogen is contained in protein foods and in the proteins of the body tissues. When the amount of nitrogen taken in the form of protein is equal to the amount of nitrogen excreted in the urine and bowel movements, the patient is in nitrogen balance. When more is taken in than is excreted, the patient is in a positive nitrogen balance; that is, the nitrogen in the form of protein is being retained in the body to be used to form new tissue.

The chief factor in maintaining a positive nitrogen balance is the use of a proper diet. The diet should be high in the right kinds of proteins, but it must also contain sufficient starchy foods, sugars, and fats. If this is not done, the proteins will be used to supply energy to the body and will not be employed for building up the tissues.

The calories or heat units in such a rebuilding diet, as well as under normal conditions, should be made up of six parts of starchy foods and fats to one part of protein. For example, if the diet contains a total of 3500 calories, 500 of these should come from proteins, and the remainder from starchy foods, sweets, and fats. On this basis, about four ounces of proteins would be needed in the diet each day. It does no good to increase the protein unless, at the same time, fats and carbohydrates, too, are increased.

It is also a matter of interest that the giving of testosterone, which is a secretion from the male sex gland, seems to increase the retaining of proteins by the body. Thus, it is stated this preparation may be of especial value when the patient cannot take a great quantity of food.

High in Proteins

To speed up convalescence, patients are often given mixtures made up, for example, of skimmed milk, eggs, and sugar. Such mixtures are high in proteins and are easily taken by the patient. It is also helpful in speeding up convalescence to use these in addition to high protein diets prior to operations.

A steady gain in weight of about three pounds a week in an underweight person indicates successful treatment. More rapid gains, as a rule, are not possible because the patient cannot take larger quantities of food.

The Black Rose

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

MARYAM seated herself between them, drawing her skirts tightly about her to save them from dust and grease. "I am not hungry," she said. "But you must have supper without more talk. I shall sit here until you are through."

Tristram dipped a hand in the kettle and began to eat. His appetite was enormous under any and all circumstances. Walter did not follow his example at once. He found it hard to take his eyes from the girl's face. He was fascinated by her lashes, which were black and of a most unusual length. She looked up once and favored him with a steady look, then dropped her eyes again to study her fingers, only the tips of which showed beneath the ends of her close-fitting sleeves.

He found that one glance disconcerting in the extreme. She was not only lovely to look at but different from any woman he had ever seen. Lu Chung had called her the Black Rose, and he was sure now that this came closest to the true explanation; she had a quality which suggested the fine tang of that rare spice. "The Black Rose," he said to himself. "That is the name for her."

Tristram got to his feet slowly. "Our little rascal of a Mahmoud will be hungry," he said. "I will take his place outside."

Maryam arose to get a pair of small, ivory-handled scissors. "My hair has grown too long," she complained. "I have trimmed it in front, but I can't cut it properly in the back." She looked at Walter and smiled, holding up the scissors. "Please. Will you cut my hair in the back?"

She seated herself beside him with her back turned and her head bent down to facilitate the work. Walter put a thumb and forefinger into the ivory handles, finding them a close fit. He looked hesitantly at he jet tangle of hair.

"I am very clumsy," he objected, "and I fear I shall make a botch of this. Perhaps it would be better if Tris cut it."

"Perhaps it would be better if you cut it," said the girl determinedly.

He gingerly clipped off the end of one strand which fell on the palm of his other hand. "How much am I to cut?"

She held up one finger and touched the first joint with her other hand. "About that much. But be very sure not to cut more. My head is small, and I do not want to look like a mouse drowned in a jug."

He worked slowly, acutely aware of her nearness, of the youthful hollows in her neck and the delicate prettiness of her ears, of the barely perceptible trace of perfume which reached him whenever she moved. The perfume was a new variety to him, a very subtle kind and quite different from what Engaine had used. Once she leaned back, and her shoulders rested against him. She drew away at once, but he had caught a glimpse of the gentle curve of her breasts under the gold pallium. He had to fight an impulse to drop the scissors and gather her up in his arms.

He was now sorely at odds with himself. Love had always meant to him the silent and rapt adoration of his inaccessible Engaine. He wanted to feel sure that what he was beginning to feel for Maryam had no relation to this lower order of things. Could it be, then, that he was permitting her to share the realm of his mind and heart which belonged exclusively to Engaine?

Walter sat back and held the scissors out to her. "There! I think it is done. Look in your mirror and see if you are satisfied."

She rose slowly and returned back of her curtain. After a few moments she called: "It is good. You have been most clever with the scissors. Thank you, Walter."

"Our poor Tris is still out in the cold. It is now my turn to stand watch."

"No, it will not be necessary. I think now I must take this dress off. And it will be the last time I shall wear it. I know you think it is very dangerous . . . Walter?"

"Yes."

She appeared at the end of the curtain and looked at him with an appeal in her eyes.

"Please. I want you to think of me just as I am, and not as I will have to look after this."

A few nights later he played chess with Bayan and when he returned the yurt was in darkness. The steady breathing of Tristram and the snoring of Mahmoud testified that both were sound asleep. There were sounds of stirring, however, from behind the curtain. Maryam crawled stealthily to the end of it and whispered, "Walter!"

He followed her example until their heads were no more than a few feet apart. She reached out a hand and touched him to assure herself that he was near enough to hear her. There was silence for a space, and then she said: "You have never talked to me about England. There is so much I want to know. You will take me back there, won't you?"

"Life in England is very different. It is not as easy as in the East, and the climate is wet and cold. Are you sure you would want to change your whole way of living?"

"All that is of no importance!" she whispered with an intensity that surprised him. "Now that I know I am English, I want to be completely English. I want to live in my father's country no matter how different it may be. And," she touched his arm again, "do you think I would want to be left behind?"

She began to ask him questions about his life at home. Once started, he told her of the strange menage in which he had been raised at Gurnie, of his Oxford days, and finally of the events which resulted in his departure. She was avid to know everything, but her chief interest, he sensed, was in Engaine and the relationship which had existed between them.

"Does it not seem to you possible that your Engaine has acted selfishly?" she asked.

"Because she was prepared to marry my half-brother? That was not a matter of choice entirely with her. Both fathers were set on the match, and that made it difficult for her to refuse."

"But did she want to refuse?"

Walter was compelled to answer, "I cannot be sure."

When she spoke again it was clear she was assuming that she would go to England. She began to ask questions of a less personal nature.

"I am so very ignorant of everything," she said regretfully. "It is not thought proper for women of the East to have learning. I have never seen a book. What would I do if I were in your country? It would be very difficult."

"English women have very little learning. I doubt if many of them have seen a book either."

She said with sudden vehemence: "I want to be like you in everything! It would hurt me very much if you were ashamed of me."

"And you want to marry an Englishman?"

There was a moment of tense silence. "Yes!" she whispered. "I want to marry an Englishman!"

Without knowing how it came about, he found that they were lying side by side and that his arm was around her neck. He drew her still closer until he could feel her heart beating wildly against his side.

"How weak I am!" she whispered. "I talk of learning to be like the ladies of your country, and then I—I let you hold me like this, when I know that you love your Engaine." After a moment she added, "But I think perhaps you are coming to like me a little too."

"I have been struggling against it," he answered. "I know that I have been breaking a solemn pledge."

"A pledge? Are words so important? Does not the state of your heart decide?"

He drew her around until she was completely within his arms, her whole body pressed against his. She lay there unresistingly and he was aware of the touch of one bare foot against his foot.

"Perhaps she is married," she said, in a breathless tone. "You won't know until you return, and that can't be for several years. Perhaps—you will come to think less of her as time goes on."

Suddenly her mood underwent a change. She struggled out of his arms and sat up.

"You will think ill of me," she said, her voice raised above the point of caution. "You will think me bold and forward. I said I did not want you ever to feel ashamed of me; and now I am ashamed of myself."

He had raised himself to a sitting position also. She moved further away on her couch of boughs.

"I think you had better go back, Walter," she said.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Paul Gallico

NEW YORK—To anyone who has paid more than casual attention to it, it is the most obvious fact in the world that men are more vain than women. All you have to do is wander along any subway platform and see which sex uses the mirrors on the gum machines the most. But Eve Wygod, a member in good standing of our sinful community, is one of the few souls to turn the obvious fact into money.

Miss Wygod, a large and bland woman, operates a beauty salon for men, high up in a Fifth avenue office building. I bearded her—figuratively, that is—there today, skillfully avoided her attempts to lure me into a room full of more strange-looking machines than a Frankenstein movie, and discussed her art with her.

Actually, her salon is not as sinister as it may sound. It is a commercial affair and she does solicit business from the average man, but a good deal of her trade comes from men in show business—stage leading men, television actors and the like. Miss Wygod and her 16 male and female assistants cut, color and wave hair, give back, neck and scalp treatments, preside over facials and, in general, try to make a new man of you. They do not cleanse your soul but they do about everything else.

"The stage juvenile who may be prematurely gray comes to us in order that he can get a job," Miss Wygod told me. "We touch up his hair, and presto—he eats. He has to get it re-touched about every six weeks. Then we get actors who want to change their appearance so they'll fit into a new stage personality, and we do that, too."

The salon is flexible to an almost grotesque point. They have steam treatments to help hay fever sufferers and they have a vibrating bed that is so comfortable that the other day a television actor settled in it for a quick vibrate and fell sound asleep for two hours. The hair-cutting is done by both men and women, "and they all are under strict orders not to talk, especially about business or the horses, unless the customer wants."

THE MEN'S BEAUTY SALON business requires a special license, and when Miss Wygod set up her place a couple of years ago, her license application so upset state officials in Albany that they sent a special representative down to New York, she said, to try and talk her out of the idea. She was confusing the department, the representative told her wistfully. But she stuck to her guns, and today she is fully engaged in making the New York man beautiful.

"Paul Gallico, the writer," Miss Wygod recalled, "once came in here and asked for 'the works.' That's about a two-hour procedure, and while we were engaged in trying to make a new man out of him, we wondered dubiously whether he was going to hold us up to ridicule. But he wrote a piece about it a couple of weeks later and said it was wonderful, and that anyone who went back to plain barber shops after this was just crazy."

Miss Wygod has been razoring the barbers for some time now. "They're 75 years behind the times," she said, and it wasn't as if she was talking behind their backs, because she told them that to their face at a convention some time ago. I didn't get around to asking the barbers how they felt about her, but since many barbers in New York these days make more out of their bookie business than haircutting, I doubt they are too distressed by her.

* * * *

THE WYGOD SALON has an annex, too; in the building next door, Miss W. has set up a television registry and for a percentage, she supplies studios with actors. They are separate businesses but they dovetail in a way. If a call comes in for a sultry blonde temptress, Miss Wygod is apt to look over her file cards, pick out some pert little brunet with dimples and fetch her over to the men's beauty salon, where, in a separate room devoted to the ladies (actually the place is kind of co-ed), she will make over the brunet into Mae West.

A lot of big names in show business use Miss Wygod's talents but she keeps their identity discretely to herself. She also has still another annex—a room where she keeps a seamstress at work, whipping up costumes for her television registrants. In fact, everything but a floor show goes on at the place. They have a green piano in the swanky reception room and Miss W. is going to hold weekly auditions after hours there, starting shortly. As I was leaving, she eyed my summer crew-cut. "Never wear your hair that way," she said. "Now, if you'll let me"—but I escaped into the hall and was gone. Just an uncouth oaf.

Kiernan's

ONE MAN'S OPINION

Although the Army is operating the railroads it is not necessary to salute the conductor.

And except in extraordinary circumstances he will continue to call "all aboard," not "fall in."

The purpose of seizing the railroads is to enable employes to work while striking. This is a nice arrangement under which everyone continues to labor for the same wage he is against taking any longer.

There was only one hitch in the changeover from private to government operation. Seven railroad presidents had to get the buttons moved on their Eisenhower jackets.

For the moment they are all colonels, responsible to the commander-in - chief and the union generals.

But there is no truth to the report that new diesels are coming out with bugles and turret guns.

The public will notice hardly any difference in the operation of the roads and commuters are requested not to refer to themselves as "evacuees."

The moon's surface is about 14,685,000 square miles — about four times the area of Europe.

Stupper Bigelow, of Toronto, relays the tale of a young doctor who hung up his shingle in a small town and waited for his first patient. Some days later one arrived—covered from head to foot with an angry, dangerous-looking rash. The puzzled young medico hastily consulted his text book but could find no help there. Finally he said to the patient, "Did you ever have this affliction before?" "Oh, sure, Doc," the patient replied. "I've had it twice before." "Well, damnation," diagnosed the doctor, "you've got it again."

Travel Talks Head Program For Grange

At a recent meeting of Star Grange travel talks were given by Charles Corkwell, Margaret Anderson, Ilene Bidwell and Russell Timmons. Each told of vacation trips from which they had just returned.

On the program also were readings, "Sale Bill of 1849" by Mrs. Frances Furniss; "State Fair of 1849" by Mrs. Charles Corkwell; "Pete's Prayer" by Mrs. Shirley Anderson; "What They Call Me" by Mrs. Lloyd Neff and "Onward" by Mrs. Charles Hosler.

Shirley Anderson and Harry Bailey presented a duet, "In the Garden." Group singing concluded the program.

In charge of the program planning were Grange members whose birthdays occurred in May, June, July and August. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bailey served as chairmen.

During the business meeting donations were made to Grange home and Veterans hospital, Chillicothe.

Plans were formulated for the chicken supper to be held in connection with "booster night."

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dudleson and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Davis.

PROGRAM 3 YEARS OLD

Roughage Fed To Cattle Increases Farmer Profits

Pickaway County cattle feeders may expect to reap more profits from their stock by following in the footsteps of an Iowa father-son team.

Dale Irwin and his father, Orie, of Sac County, Ia., have built their entire cattle-feeding program around the fullest use of roughage. In addition to the roughage program, the men also feed two ages of cattle.

They started their program three years ago. Today, more than half their land is in grass and hay. They use yearling steers to clean up the hay meadows, pasture, and stalk fields in the Fall. Either steer or heifer calves take care of the Spring and Summer roughage.

The men buy about 150 short yearling steers, weighing about 600 pounds each, in September. These steers are unloaded on 13 acres of bromegrass, where they stay until adjusted to their new surroundings. Within three or four days the steers are turned into bromegrass fields that previously had been combined for seed.

WHEN THE aftermath is cleaned up they are driven into stalk fields. It's mid-November by the time they've salvaged the corn on the ground. Then they are turned back into the 13-acre field to stay until the following Summer.

In Winter quarters, the yearlings start out on two or three pounds of chopped brome-alfalfa hay, 20 pounds of a combination of grass and corn silage, and four pounds of corn and cob meal per head daily. Supplement consists of two pounds per head of a fifty-fifty mixture of soybean and linseed meal.

Then, also, the men buy either heifer or steer calves, depending on which can be bought to a better advantage. The calves go directly to the feedlot where hay and a little oats are fed during the first two or three weeks.

After this conditioning period, calves receive about four or five pounds per head daily of corn and cob meal, 10 to 12 pounds of brome-alfalfa silage, three or four pounds of chopped hay, and a pound of supplement (soybean and linseed oil mixed.) A mineral mix also is self-fed.

Like the steers, the calves get sweet corn silage during the early part of the Winter. Starting in late January, they are switched over to the grass and corn silage mixture.

These men use other tricks to accomplish their long range program, but, all in all, their plan is nothing more than the time-tested principle of "putting your eggs in more than one basket."

Island Road Abandonment Is Approved

Pickaway County commissioners Monday adopted a resolution to abandon a section of the Island Road.

The action was taken after the commissioners were informed that a new route is now open to traffic. The stretch to be abandoned begins 600 feet north of the Sturm-Dillard spur railroad track, ends at a point near the Red Bridge over the Scioto River.

Officials in the county engineer's office said that blacktopping of the new stretch has not been accomplished yet. They described it as having fewer and more gradual curves than the old route.

The commissioners have set Sept. 18 as the date for viewing the road. Hearing will be held Sept. 25.

Six Building Permits Granted By City Panel

Six building permits have been issued in Circleville by the city zoning and planning commission.

The permits were issued to:

Otto F. Guenther and Allie Palm to construct a $1,150 cement block structure for the storage of merchandise. It will be erected at 455 East Main street.

M. A. Leist of Mingo street to build a garage estimated to cost $800.

IOOF Lodge to add a store room, estimated cost, $200.

C. A. Leist of 319 East Main street to build a coal shed.

Charles Jewell of Lovers' Lane to remodel a garage at an estimated cost of $300.

Ko-Reds Don't Talk Back

TOKYO, Aug. 30—North Korean troops do not talk back.

Far East Airforce officers reported that while First Cavalrymen and airmen examined captured equipment from an annihilated North Korean patrol, one cavalryman commented that the enemy had radio receivers but no transmitter.

"That seems funny," he said.

But an airman explained:

"Nothing funny about that. These guys just take order—they don't talk back."

Argentine Peso Value Slashed

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 30—The Peron government devalued the peso today in a major move to boost foreign trade and entice foreign capital to invest in Argentina.

The government also created a free market in an effort to halt a black market in currency wherein the dollar was quoted at 60 percent above the highest official rate of exchange.

The exact extent of the devaluation in relation to the dollar and pound sterling was not immediately determined. It ranges from 20 percent for some exchange deals to 50 percent for others.

PROGRAM 3 YEARS OLD

Roughage Fed To Cattle Increases Farmer Profits

Pickaway County cattle feeders may expect to reap more profits from their stock by following in the footsteps of an Iowa father-son team.

Dale Irwin and his father, Orie, of Sac County, Ia., have built their entire cattle-feeding program around the fullest use of roughage. In addition to the roughage program, the men also feed two ages of cattle.

They started their program three years ago. Today, more than half their land is in grass and hay. They use yearling steers to clean up the hay meadows, pasture, and stalk fields in the Fall. Either steer or heifer calves take care of the Spring and Summer roughage.

The men buy about 150 short yearling steers, weighing about 600 pounds each, in September. These steers are unloaded on 13 acres of bromegrass, where they stay until adjusted to their new surroundings. Within three or four days the steers are turned into bromegrass fields that previously had been combined for seed.

WHEN THE aftermath is cleaned up they are driven into stalk fields. It's mid-November by the time they've salvaged the corn on the ground. Then they are turned back into the 13-acre field to stay until the following Summer.

In Winter quarters, the yearlings start out on two or three pounds of chopped brome-alfalfa hay, 20 pounds of a combination of grass and corn silage, and four pounds of corn and cob meal per head daily. Supplement consists of two pounds per head of a fifty-fifty mixture of soybean and linseed meal.

Then, also, the men buy either heifer or steer calves, depending on which can be bought to a better advantage. The calves go directly to the feedlot where hay and a little oats are fed during the first two or three weeks.

After this conditioning period, calves receive about four or five pounds per head daily of corn and cob meal, 10 to 12 pounds of brome-alfalfa silage, three or four pounds of chopped hay, and a pound of supplement (soybean and linseed oil mixed.) A mineral mix also is self-fed.

Like the steers, the calves get sweet corn silage during the early part of the Winter. Starting in late January, they are switched over to the grass and corn silage mixture.

These men use other tricks to accomplish their long range program, but, all in all, their plan is nothing more than the time-tested principle of "putting your eggs in more than one basket."

Island Road Abandonment Is Approved

Pickaway County commissioners Monday adopted a resolution to abandon a section of the Island Road.

The action was taken after the commissioners were informed that a new route is now open to traffic. The stretch to be abandoned begins 600 feet north of the Sturm-Dillard spur railroad track, ends at a point near the Red Bridge over the Scioto River.

Officials in the county engineer's office said that blacktopping of the new stretch has not been accomplished yet. They described it as having fewer and more gradual curves than the old route.

The commissioners have set Sept. 18 as the date for viewing the road. Hearing will be held Sept. 25.

Six Building Permits Granted By City Panel

Six building permits have been issued in Circleville by the city zoning and planning commission.

The permits were issued to:

Otto F. Guenther and Allie Palm to construct a $1,150 cement block structure for the storage of merchandise. It will be erected at 455 East Main street.

M. A. Leist of Mingo street to build a garage estimated to cost $800.

IOOF Lodge to add a store room, estimated cost, $200.

C. A. Leist of 319 East Main street to build a coal shed.

Charles Jewell of Lovers' Lane to remodel a garage at an estimated cost of $300.

Ko-Reds Don't Talk Back

TOKYO, Aug. 30—North Korean troops do not talk back.

Far East Airforce officers reported that while First Cavalrymen and airmen examined captured equipment from an annihilated North Korean patrol, one cavalryman commented that the enemy had radio receivers but no transmitter.

"That seems funny," he said.

But an airman explained:

Argentine Peso Value Slashed

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 30—The Peron government devalued the peso today in a major move to boost foreign trade and entice foreign capital to invest in Argentina.

The government also created a free market in an effort to halt a black market in currency wherein the dollar was quoted at 60 percent above the highest official rate of exchange.

The exact extent of the devaluation in relation to the dollar and pound sterling was not immediately determined. It ranges from 20 percent for some exchange deals to 50 percent for others.

'THE ENEMY AT HOME'

Red Blueprint For Grab Of U.S. Set By Kremlin

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—A blueprint for the Communist conspiracy against the United States and other non-Communist countries is found in official party directives originating from the Kremlin.

That blueprint, investigators say, has been followed religiously by members of the Communist Party in the United States. It has resulted in the perfection of a highly effective underground organization for work in peace or war.

Details of the order setting up the underground are contained in an article published by the Communist International, official organ of the Comintern, in New York in September, 1931.

Entitled "Organizational Problems in Underground Revolutionary Work," this amazing document was written by B. Vassiliev, a prominent figure in the Communist International.

Dr. J. B. Batthews, former director of research for the House Un-American Activities Committee and considered one of the foremost authorities on Communism in the country, describes the Vassiliev article as "a veritable primer for Americans who wish to understand the true nature of the Communist Party."

"The question of an illegal organization must now receive the attention of all Communist parties.

"THUS, THE increasing artfulness of the police apparatus of the bourgeois governments in the struggle against the Communist movement makes it essential for the latter to have a more complicated, flexible and accurately functioning organization. This organization will inevitably have to rely on a strong conspirative apparatus, supplemented by widely adopted methods of legal party work."

Vassiliev's directive called for the secreting of party archives; the establishment of underground printing plants for use if and when the party is outlawed, and arrangements for substituting leaders for those who may be arrested.

The Comintern article also gave instructions for setting up addresses and houses for "illegal correspondence." Matthews explains that these are known as "letter drops."

The residents at such drops usually are not suspected of Communist affiliations. They receive communications by mail or courier and hold them until called for by some one who identifies himself by code, in the tradition of cloak-and-dagger fiction.

The directive elaborates on the legal defense of Communists in "the illegal part of the party apparatus"—a technique demonstrated by the tactics of Communist and pro-Communist lawyers in various cases in the last two years.

The setting up of Communist front organizations is discussed at length in the Vassiliev directive. He wrote: In view of the attempts of the ruling classes to drive the Communist parties underground, the work of the parties in various legal mass organizations is of tremendous importance, especially in trade unions and also in organizations such as sport clubs, freethinkers' leagues, tenants' leagues, international labor defense, etc."

A SALIENT POINT in the blueprint for conspiracy concerned the establishment of "factory nuclei," or sabotage squads, in key industrial plants. Of this Vassiliev wrote:

"While struggling by all means for the possibility to carry on open mass work, all legal Communist Parties must even at the present moment make one branch of party work unquestionably illegal. This branch of work is in the factories, the work of the factory nuclei. The factory nuclei must at the present time without question be formed as illegal organizations and must work by illegal methods."

Bear in mind that this directive was published 19 years ago. In 1931, says Dr. Matthews, the Communist Party reported the existence of 125 "factory nuclei."

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says that today "48 percent of the Communist Party membership is in the basic industry of this country."

That means that trained saboteurs and spies are at work in every major airplane factory and defense plant in the country. They may be in a position to halt or delay production.

And this they are sworn to do, if they can, especially in a period of emergency such as now exists since the outbreak of the Korean war.

On this point the program of the Communist International, as published in 1936, states;

"The Communist International must devote itself especially to systematic preparation for the struggle against the danger of imperialist wars. The fundamental slogan of the Communist International in this connection must be the following:

"Convert imperialist war into civil war; defeat your own 'imperialist government'; defend the USSR and the colonies by every possible means in the event of imperialist war against them. It is the bounden duty of all sections of the Communist International, and of every one of its members, to carry on propaganda for these slogans."

Award Or Not, It's Still Noisy

MANSFIELD, Aug. 30—Mansfield apparently is going to get a noise abatement award, but apparently no one knows why—or when.

The National Noise Abatement Council announced Tuesday that Mansfield has received a merit award for a successful campaign to reduce noise.

City officials commented, however, that they haven't heard about any campaign nor have they received any award.

Print Exchange Is Speeded

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — The Columbus police department today became the first in Ohio to link up with Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Detroit in a wire-picture net for exchanging fingerprints and photos.

Machines for sending pictures were delivered to the department only recently.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says that today "48 percent of the Communist Party membership is in the basic industry of this country."

That means that trained saboteurs and spies are at work in every major airplane factory and defense plant in the country. They may be in a position to halt or delay production.

And this they are sworn to do, if they can, especially in a period of emergency such as now exists since the outbreak of the Korean war.

On this point the program of the Communist International, as published in 1936, states;

"The Communist International must devote itself especially to systematic preparation for the struggle against the danger of imperialist wars. The fundamental slogan of the Communist International in this connection must be the following:

"Convert imperialist war into civil war; defeat your own 'imperialist government'; defend the USSR and the colonies by every possible means in the event of imperialist war against them. It is the bounden duty of all sections of the Communist International, and of every one of its members, to carry on propaganda for these slogans."

Award Or Not, It's Still Noisy

MANSFIELD, Aug. 30—Mansfield apparently is going to get a noise abatement award, but apparently no one knows why—or when.

The National Noise Abatement Council announced Tuesday that Mansfield has received a merit award for a successful campaign to reduce noise.

City officials commented, however, that they haven't heard about any campaign nor have they received any award.

Print Exchange Is Speeded

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — The Columbus police department today became the first in Ohio to link up with Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Detroit in a wire-picture net for exchanging fingerprints and photos.

Machines for sending pictures were delivered to the department only recently.

TERMITES
million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be sure. There is no your property is not infested they charge for the inspection, and if

Cause damage in excess of fifty will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.
Many irresponsible amateurs—self-styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.
An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning.
The almost unbelievable cunning of the termite makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment. Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return, if necessary. Unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "Guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.
Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it.
We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

4 Circleville Girls Vie For Baton Honors

Four Circleville lasses were to have competed for state honors Wednesday in the baton-twirling contest in Ohio State Fair.

Representing Circleville were Jackie Smith, Phyllis Dresbach, Anne Stocklen and Linda Dresbach.

The Misses Dresbach and Stocklen advanced into the finals of the junior division Tuesday.

Phyllis Dresbach won first place in her junior division preliminary, while Anne Stocklen finished second and Linda Dresbach finished third.

Also participating in Tuesday's elimination from Circleville were Luanna Dresbach and Dianne Mason. The local contestants were coached by Deve Kesling, former Ohio State university ace drum major.

Capital Gets Scattered Rain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The rain hardly wet the street in parts of Washington, but on other sections it approached the proportions of a Mississippi river flood.

In the southwest section there wasn't enough precipitation to record.

In Washington's northwest it was a cloudburst, hitting with such force that abandoned automobiles were washed down the streets and boys were swimming over what usually is a highway carrying automotive traffic.

Sulky Driver Hurt In Pileup

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—John Lee and Hand Book shared the winner's circle last night in the $1,600 divided pace feature at Sportsman's Park in Chicago.

Lusty Mack and Mer MC. split the $1,500 divided pace feature.

Al Phillips, a West Allis, Wis., driver, was thrown from his sulky in the fourth race when his horse, Vole Crusader, went over Judy Rood which fell ahead of him. Two sulkies passed over Phillips before he was able to get out of the way. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital.

Cops Checking Mystery Baby

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 30—The Scioto County sheriff has been asked to investigate the parentage of a so-called "mystery" baby left at Mercy hospital here Aug. 6.

Sheriff Burl Justice said Mrs. Edna Hannah, 35-year-old resident of Salt Creek, near Portsmouth, told him she found the baby boy in a basket on her door step three weeks ago.

Mrs. Hannah took the child to the hospital. The baby apparently had been born only a few hours previous to Mrs. Hannah's finding it on her doorstep.

Sokolsky's

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever advocated that the United States government be overthrown by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

There were many questions which could have been answered by a yes or a no, but for which Mrs. Todd followed a uniform formula of reply pursued generally by Communists.

An assistant director in a radio studio is quite a responsible job. One would imagine that Mrs. Todd had had a long experience in radio. However, it appears that her experience had been elsewhere, including the Tennessee Valley Authority. And she was a member of the union there that switched from the AFL to one of the leftwing CIO unions. On this subject she was queried:

"Mr. Appell. Will you tell the committee how the empoyes of TVA happened to break away from the AFL local and change to the CIO union?

"Mrs. Todd. They took a vote to change to United Federal Workers.

"Mr. Appell. Was the changing from AFL to CIO ever discussed in the Communist Party? Was that Communist Party strategy?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

I cite the Todd testimony not to condemn the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., which is no better or worse than any other, but to point to carelessness in the employment of persons in positions where they can influence the minds of our children. Many of them attack the very business processes that pay for the sponsorship of "entertainment" which can be and has been used as a vehicle to destroy them.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT
No. 16108
Estate of L. V. Martin, Deceased
Notice is hereby given that Goldie Martin whose Post Office address is Route 4, Circleville, Ohio, has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Estate of L. V. Martin, late of Pickaway County, Ohio, deceased.
Dated this 14th day of August, 1950.
GEORGE D. YOUNG
Judge of the Probate Court
Pickaway County, Ohio
Aug. 16, 23, 30.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed bids will be received by the Service Director of the City of Circleville, Ohio until twelve o'clock—noon on the 9th day of September, 1950, at his office in the City Building, for:

1. One power maintainer Hydraulic equipped with nine (9) foot blade for grading seven (7) foot doer blade in front, approximately 42 horse power, not to exceed Twenty-two hundred ($2200.00) Dollars and costs, in accordance with specification on file in the office of said Service Director.

Each bid must contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same and be ecompanied by a bond with an approved surety company in the sum of 10 percent of the bid, or a certified check on some solvent bank, drawn and made payable to the City of Circleville, Ohio, as guaranty that if any bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into and its performance secured in the proper manner. Should any bid be rejected such bond or check will be returned to the bidder, and should any bid be accepted such bond or check will be returned to the bidder upon the proper execution of the contract.

The successful bidder, if any, will be required to execute the contract within five days after the award of the same to him. In case of failure to execute the contract as stated, the bidder will be considered to have abandoned the contract and the bond or check accompanying the bid shall be forfeited to the City. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

By authority of the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio.
John W. Neuding
Service Director,
City of Circleville, Ohio
Approved George E. Garhardt,
City Solicitor.

Bears Expected To Be Tough Against Browns

BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 30—Take it from Lou Rymkus—the Chicago Bears probably will be the toughest rival the Cleveland Browns will meet in the new National Football League this season.

The rough, tough Bears, a National League powerhouse for the last 30 years, and runnerup to the Champion Philadelphia Eagles last year, invade Cleveland Stadium Friday night for what is supposed to be an exhibition game. But both teams will be "shooting the works" for this one.

"We'll be fighting an aggressive bunch of fellows," according to Rymkus, right tackle for the Browns and one of four members of the team who has had direct contact with the Chicago club.

"I played against them during the regular season in 1943. We beat them, 21-7, but the thing I recall is that we had to have Sid Luckman flat on his back or he might still get a pass away and complete it.

"Old Sid is supposed to be second to Johnny Lujack now, but he still can do a good job. They tell me it was Sid who took over in the second half when the score was 14-14 and directed the Bears to their 30-14 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night.

"This will be a smart football team, too. The Bears recover fast if they do make a mistake."

Lima's Keiser Holding Lead In Ohio Open

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — Those in the know are calling Herman Keiser "Happy Herman" today—and with good reason.

The big Lima professional is all alone far out in front in the Ohio Open golf tournament and almost a cinch to repeat his 1949 championship in today's final 36 holes of the tourney.

His superlative golf put him three strokes up on Denny Shute of Akron, his closets competitor, and five up on his next three closest rivals—Jack Grout of Columbus, Don White of Toledo and Mike Krak of Cleveland.

Shute was runnerup with a 140 total. He added a 72 yesterday to his Monday round of 68. Grout, White and Krak all are knotted at even-par 142.

Low amateur among the 68 eligible for today's final two rounds was Tom Nieporte of Cincinnati. He shot a 72 Monday and 71 yesterday for a 143 total.

Brudzinski Sets First Scrimmage

Squads To Meet At End Of Week

Competition is expected to be razor-sharp Thursday or Friday when Circleville Tiger grid hopefuls battle for positions in the first intra-squad scrimmage.

Coach Steve Brudzinski said Wednesday that his young charges are "shaping up pretty good physically" and that they will have their first scrimmage session either Thursday or Friday.

"The boys are just beginning to assemble and learn the plays," Brudzinski said. "No positions have been awarded yet."

Versatility both in the backfield and on the line is expected to be the keynote to the Tiger strategy this season.

Brudzinski said that every backfield man is to learn each of the four positions, while linemen are to learn two posts.

THE COACH added that prospective candidates for center posts so far are Bill Stout, Ted Davis and Bob Turner.

End post candidates are Dave Coffland, Charles Johnson, Don Mancini, Clarence Boyd and Turner.

Seeking tackle positions are Bill Gillis, John Cockrell, and Bob Ford, while guard candidates are Gene Kerns, Sheldon Winner, Harold McClarren, Lowell Thomas and Lee Smith.

Brudzinski has other worries than his gird team, however.

"What we need is a good head manager who can really take care of the boys," he said.

Several youngsters are trying out for the post as the team is being whipped into shape.

Ballou Scores

AKRON, Aug. 30 — Gertrude Ballou of Fairlawn, runnerup for the women's Akron District Golf Association amateur crown, scored an 80 yesterday at Shady Hollow Country Club to take gross honors in a medal play tourney that finished the association's 21st season.

Coach Named

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30 — Fred George, football coach at St. Ignatius high school in Cleveland, will also direct the basketball squad next season. George was named to the post after Bill Scopel, former John Carroll star, resigned.

million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be sure. There is no your property is not infested they charge for the inspection, and if

Cause damage in excess of fifty will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.

Many irresponsible amateurs—self-styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.

An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning.

The almost unbelievable cunning of the termite makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment. Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return, if necessary. Unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "Guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.

Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it.

We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

4 Circleville Girls Vie For Baton Honors

Four Circleville lasses were to have competed for state honors Wednesday in the baton-twirling contest in Ohio State Fair.

Representing Circleville were Jackie Smith, Phyllis Dresbach, Anne Stocklen and Linda Dresbach.

Miss Smith earned a chance at the state crown in the senior division last Sunday when she placed third in the preliminary contest.

The Misses Dresbach and Stocklen advanced into the finals of the junior division Tuesday.

Phyllis Dresbach won first place in her junior division preliminary, while Anne Stocklen finished second and Linda Dresbach finished third.

Also participating in Tuesday's elimination from Circleville were Luanna Dresbach and Dianne Mason. The local contestants were coached by Deve Kesling, former Ohio State university ace drum major.

Capital Gets Scattered Rain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The rain hardly wet the street in parts of Washington, but on other sections it approached the proportions of a Mississippi river flood.

In the southwest section there wasn't enough precipitation to record.

In Washington's northwest it was a cloudburst, hitting with such force that abandoned automobiles were washed down the streets and boys were swimming over what usually is a highway carrying automotive traffic.

Sulky Driver Hurt In Pileup

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—John Lee and Hand Book shared the winner's circle last night in the $1,600 divided pace feature at Sportsman's Park in Chicago.

John Lee took the 6-½ furlong first heat and Hand Book copped the mile-long second division.

Lusty Mack and Mer MC. split the $1,500 divided pace feature.

Al Phillips, a West Allis, Wis., driver, was thrown from his sulky in the fourth race when his horse, Vole Crusader, went over Judy Rood which fell ahead of him. Two sulkies passed over Phillips before he was able to get out of the way. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital.

Cops Checking Mystery Baby

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 30—The Scioto County sheriff has been asked to investigate the parentage of a so-called "mystery" baby left at Mercy hospital here Aug. 6.

Sheriff Burl Justice said Mrs. Edna Hannah, 35-year-old resident of Salt Creek, near Portsmouth, told him she found the baby boy in a basket on her door step three weeks ago.

Mrs. Hannah took the child to the hospital. The baby apparently had been born only a few hours previous to Mrs. Hannah's finding it on her doorstep.

Sokolsky's

"Mr. Russell. Have you ever advocated that the United States government be overthrown by force and violence?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

There were many questions which could have been answered by a yes or a no, but for which Mrs. Todd followed a uniform formula of reply pursued generally by Communists.

An assistant director in a radio studio is quite a responsible job. One would imagine that Mrs. Todd had had a long experience in radio. However, it appears that her experience had been elsewhere, including the Tennessee Valley Authority. And she was a member of the union there that switched from the AFL to one of the leftwing CIO unions. On this subject she was queried:

"Mr. Appell. Will you tell the committee how the empoyes of TVA happened to break away from the AFL local and change to the CIO union?

"Mrs. Todd. They took a vote to change to United Federal Workers.

"Mr. Appell. Was the charging from AFL to CIO ever discussed in the Communist Party? Was that Communist Party strategy?

"Mrs. Todd. I refuse to answer that question on the ground my answer would tend to incriminate me."

I cite the Todd testimony not to condemn the Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., which is no better or worse than any other, but to point to carelessness in the employment of persons in positions where they can influence the minds of our children. Many of them attack the very business processes that pay for the sponsorship of "entertainment" which can be and has been used as a vehicle to destroy them.

Bears Expected To Be Tough Against Browns

BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 30—Take it from Lou Rymkus—the Chicago Bears probably will be the toughest rival the Cleveland Browns will meet in the new National Football League this season.

The rough, tough Bears, a National League powerhouse for the last 30 years, and runnerup to the Champion Philadelphia Eagles last year, invade Cleveland Stadium Friday night for what is supposed to be an exhibition game. But both teams will be "shooting the works" for this one.

"We'll be fighting an aggressive bunch of fellows," according to Rymkus, right tackle for the Browns and one of four members of the team who has had direct contact with the Chicago club.

"I played against them during the regular season in 1943. We beat them, 21-7, but the thing I recall is that we had to have Sid Luckman flat on his back or he might still get a pass away and complete it.

"Old Sid is supposed to be second to Johnny Lujack now, but he still can do a good job. They tell me it was Sid who took over in the second half when the score was 14-14 and directed the Bears to their 30-14 victory over Pittsburgh Saturday night.

"This will be a smart football team, too. The Bears recover fast if they do make a mistake."

Lima's Keiser Holding Lead In Ohio Open

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — Those in the know are calling Herman Keiser "Happy Herman" today —and with good reason.

The big Lima professional is all alone far out in front in the Ohio Open golf tournament and almost a cinch to repeat his 1949 championship in today's final 36 holes of the tourney.

Keiser, a veteran touring pro and former masters champion, fashioned an 18-hole 69 yesterday to go with his previous day's score of 68 for a 36-hole total of 137.

His superlative golf put him three strokes up on Denny Shute of Akron, his closets competitor, and five up on his next three closest rivals—Jack Grout of Columbus, Don White of Toledo and Mike Krak of Cleveland.

Shute was runnerup with a 140 total. He added a 72 yesterday to his Monday round of 68. Grout, White and Krak all are knotted at even-par 142.

Low amateur among the 68 eligible for today's final two rounds was Tom Nieporte of Cincinnati. He shot a 72 Monday and 71 yesterday for a 143 total.

Brudzinski Sets First Scrimmage

Squads To Meet At End Of Week

Competition is expected to be razor-sharp Thursday or Friday when Circleville Tiger grid hopefuls battle for positions in the first intra-squad scrimmage.

Coach Steve Brudzinski said Wednesday that his young charges are "shaping up pretty good physically" and that they will have their first scrimmage session either Thursday or Friday.

"The boys are just beginning to assemble and learn the plays," Brudzinski said. "No positions have been awarded yet."

Versatility both in the backfield and on the line is expected to be the keynote to the Tiger strategy this season.

Brudzinski said that every backfield man is to learn each of the four positions, while linemen are to learn two posts.

THE COACH added that prospective candidates for center posts so far are Bill Stout, Ted Davis and Bob Turner.

End post candidates are Dave Coffland, Charles Johnson, Don Mancini, Clarence Boyd and Turner.

Seeking tackle positions are Bill Gillis, John Cockrell, and Bob Ford, while guard candidates are Gene Kerns, Sheldon Winner, Harold McClarren, Lowell Thomas and Lee Smith.

The Tiger hopefuls have escaped serious injury so far in their practice sessions, although several have complained of blisters.

Brudzinski has other worries than his gird team, however.

"What we need is a good head manager who can really take care of the boys," he said.

Several youngsters are trying out for the post as the team is being whipped into shape.

Ballou Scores

AKRON, Aug. 30 — Gertrude Ballou of Fairlawn, runnerup for the women's Akron District Golf Association amateur crown, scored an 80 yesterday at Shady Hollow Country Club to take gross honors in a medal play tourney that finished the association's 21st season.

Coach Named

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30 — Fred George, football coach at St. Ignatius high school in Cleveland, will also direct the basketball squad next season. George was named to the post after Bill Scopel, former John Carroll star, resigned.

Yanks Closing Gap Behind Detroit

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 — It doesn't take a blanket to cover the American League's pennant hopeful big four today. A dainty damask dinner napkin would be more than sufficient to the task.

Dodging raindrops with indifferent success, the contenders managed to tighten the noose around the Detroit Tigers' neck yesterday.

The New York Yankees climbed to within two percentage points of the leading Tigers by topping Cleveland, 6 to 5.

The Tigers, with President Truman in the stands for the first time since opening day, dropped a night game to Washington, 4 to 4.

As a matter of fact, the Yankees might have vaulted over the Tigers into first place had not the weather man muscled into the act. The Yanks led the Indians, 4 to 0, in the third inning of the nightcap of their scheduled double header.

Then rain, which had been falling off and on all afternoon, finally quashed any hope of completing the contest.

The Tigers, too, had intended to play a twin bill, their afternoon game was rained out, but the skies cleared in time for the arc-light portion of the program.

NEW YORK'S THREAT was sinister enough to the poor, faltering Tigers, but an even greater menace appeared to be the Boston Red Sox, who seem to have forgotten how to lose.

The Bosox plowed under the Chicago White Sox, 13 to 6, for their 14th win in 15 starts on the current home stand. Thereby, the Bosox gained a third-place tie with Cleveland only two games behind the leaders.

Most significant was the manner of the Red Sockers' victory, staging another late-inning upsurge, the Bostonians blasted 15 hits including two homeruns by Bobby Doerr and one by Clyde Vollmer. The day's work gave the Sox a total of 41 hits and 39 runs in their last three games.

Mel Parnell, although thumped with enthusiasm by the White Sox, lasted through to his 13th success.

Meanwhile, the Yankees were squeezing past the Indians on Hank Bauer's bases-loaded single off Bob Lemon with two out in the tenth inning. The Yanks had gotten into the overtime on a three-run homer by Vic Raschi and a two-run blast by Yogi Berra in the eighth.

Raschi, although hitting better than he pitched, won No. 17. He was luckier than Teammate Tommy Byrne who belted a homer with one on in the second game but had it nullified by the rain.

Hobbling Detroit with six hits, Sid Hudson pitched his 12th triumph for the Senators while Dizzy Trout absorbed his fourth loss and second in a row against 11 wins.

A double bill between the St. Louis Browns and Philadelphia Athletics was rained out, but nobody seemed to care much.

THE NATIONAL League's top three clubs all won. Robin Roberts achieved his 18th victory although Jim Konstanty made his usual ninth-inning appearance as the Philadelphia Phillies topped the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 3.

Don Newcombe came through with his 15th triumph as Brooklyn subdued the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 2. Johnny Sain's 18th for the Boston Braves was a stylish five-hit, 4-to-0 shutout of Cincinnati.

The New York Giants battered Pittsburgh, 10 to 5, with Larry Jansen coasting to his 14th win.

Captain Eddie Regains Form

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 30—Captain Eddie regained his winning ways at Roosevelt Raceway last night to score a victory in the Kensington Pace by a length over Eddie Siskiyou. Patchen Axworthy took third.

Bob Walker took his charge to the front at the start and held the advantage all the way, the public making Captain Eddie the favorite.

All-Star Team For Association Is Announced

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — There must be a reason for that torrid five-team race in the current American Association campaign.

At least, 14 of the 15 players named to the league all-star team today are members of the five clubs—Minneapolis, Columbus, St. Paul, Louisville and Indianapolis — which have been battling for first place all season long.

Minneapolis, Columbus, St. Paul and Louisville each gained three spots on the "dream team." Indianapolis was voted two. Milwaukee got the lone other representative with Toledo and Kansas City, the loop's cellar dwellers, shut out completely.

Outfielder Bert Haas, the league's leading hitter, Third Baseman Ray Dandridge, and top pitcher Dixie Howell were named from the front-running Minneapolis club.

Catcher Bill Sarni, Southpaw Hurler Harvey Haddix and Second Baseman Solly Hemus, who did not join the club until July 1, were the Columbus nominees.

First Baseman Lou Limmer, a top man in runs batted in, Shortstop Jim Pendleton and righthander Phil Haugstad made the grade from St. Paul.

Louisville's selections were utility ace Mel Hoderlein, righthander Bob Alexander and the venerable Taft Wright.

Selected from Indianapolis were outfielder Tom Saffell, recently recalled by the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Catcher Eddie Fitzgerald.

The lone representative from the three teams at the bottom of the league is outfielder Bob Addis of Milwaukee, one of the Tigers, who completed two perfect seasons with his aid.

Hill also was named "most valuable player" during each of the years in which the Tigers pyramided into statewide recognition.

BEGINNING his freshman year, Sandy is not expected to see duty either on the gridiron or on the baseball diamond, his two favorite competitive sports.

Meanwhile, Miami has issued a call for its "regulars" for this season to begin practice Friday. Miami opens its schedule Sept. 30 against Bowling Green.

Hill said that arrangements have been made for his board and tuition during his freshman year.

Lackey Crowned New Horseshoe Pitching King

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—The Buckeye State Horseshoe Pitchers Association has a new set of officers and champion today.

Ralph Lackey of West Middletown won the championship yesterday, with Ellis Hanna of Canton, Paul Focht of Dayton and William Glass of Xenia following in that order.

The Class B title went to M. Schneider of Springfield, who won out over Walter Allison of Gallipolis, C. Kyle of Cedarville and George Bowman of Columbus.

C. A. Benedict of Johnstown is the new association president. Other officers named yesterday are G. L. Geiger of Columbus, first vice-president; Stanley Manker of Wilmington, second vice-president; Harry Sibert of Dayton, third vice-president, and A. B. McCoy of Coshocton, secretary-treasurer.

Hunters Need New Licenses After Friday

Pickaway County hunters must have new 1950 licenses for their field trips after Friday.

The new licenses will become valid Friday and will be in effect until Aug. 31, 1951.

Hunters are warned that the licenses must be displayed on their backs this season while they are in the field. Only fishing licenses now do not have to be displayed.

Price of this year's hunting permits are again set at $1, with a 25 cent fee for the person who issues them. Non-resident licenses are $15.25.

Copies of the new 1950 hunting regulations are to be given out by all of the agencies handling the licenses.

Lusty Song Is Favored

DU QUOIN, Ill., Aug. 30—Lusty Song, 1950 Hambletonian winner, heads a field of eight today in the champion stallion 3-year-old trot of the Grand Circuit program at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Stars Price, Hambletonian runnerup, also is entered.

A Hayes Fair Acres entry, Mighty Grattan and Shipshape, finished one-two yesterday in the Illinois Colt Stakes for 3-year-old pacers.

Intangible of Newport Stock Farms ran the fastest time of the day, finishing both heats of the Court Jester Stake for 17 class pacers in 2:06 4-5.

Races Ending

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30—Midget auto racing comes to an end at Sportsmans Park in suburban Bedford Sunday. A program of five events is scheduled with an all-star field of 18 drivers traveling 100 laps in the feature.

Sandy Hill Picks Miami For Display Of Talents

Circleville's Sandy Hill Wednesday made an answer to the long-standing question of where he will display his outstanding football talents.

The CHS grid great is to leave Sept. 12 to begin freshman practice with the Miami university Redskins in Oxford.

Sandy expects to major in physical education in Miami while plying his skill on the gridiron.

The local speedster, all-time Ohio scorer in Class A school competition, captain of the mythical Ohio "dream team" and winner of All-America high school honors was the backbone of the attack for the Circleville

Crown Prince Cops Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 30—Crown Prince was a surprise winner at Roosevelt Raceway Monday as the five-year-old chestnut horse, owned by Lucius N. Wescoat of Eastville, Va., grabbed the honors in the Mamaica Pace.

Driven by William Myer, the winner took his fifth victory of the season in 16 starts. The horse won the feature event by a nose over Major Rosecroft as Rapid Gallon, the favorite, placed third.

The victory was Myer's second consecutive win, the driver having brought home the odds-on clean up in the previous race.

Straight Heat Wins Marking Fair Program

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Some sort of record may be in the making for harness racing at the Ohio State Fair.

Three steeds romped home straight-heat winners in the four events on Monday's opening race program and all five winners walked off with straight-heat decisions in yesterday's racing.

Don Albright roared to victory in the featured 2:15 trot of the Buckeye Pacing Derby for a purse of $3,000.

Lee Stone snared the first division of the 2:25 pace. Direct K Guy took the pace's second division.

Billy Stone scored in the 2:24 trot and Walton Stone in the opening race, a 2:18 trot.

Four races are scheduled for today, including a three-year-old pace for Ohio-owned horses. To the winner of the feature will go the Secretary of Agriculture Trophy and $3,000.

Mrs. Eshelman Wins Women's Golf Title

Mrs. Herbert Eshelman of Reber avenue Tuesday won the Pickaway Country Club women's golf tournament championship.

Mrs. Eshelman earned the club trophy with a 12 and 11 victory over Mrs. Frank Wantz of Montclair avenue.

The champion advanced into the finals last week with a substantial victory over Mrs. Ned Groom, while Mrs. Wantz was given a bye in the lower bracket.

Medalist scorer of the championship match were not made available.

At least, 14 of the 15 players named to the league all-star team today are members of the five clubs—Minneapolis, Columbus, St. Paul, Louisville and Indianapolis — which have been battling for first place all season long.

Minneapolis, Columbus, St. Paul and Louisville each gained three spots on the "dream team." Indianapolis was voted two. Milwaukee got the lone other representative with Toledo and Kansas City, the loop's cellar dwellers, shut out completely.

Outfielder Bert Haas, the league's leading hitter, Third Baseman Ray Dandridge, and top pitcher Dixie Howell were named from the front-running Minneapolis club.

Catcher Bill Sarni, Southpaw Hurler Harvey Haddix and Second Baseman Solly Hemus, who did not join the club until July 1, were the Columbus nominees.

First Baseman Lou Limmer, a top man in runs batted in, Shortstop Jim Pendleton and righthander Phil Haugstad made the grade from St. Paul.

Louisville's selections were utility ace Mel Hoderlein, righthander Bob Alexander and the venerable Taft Wright.

Selected from Indianapolis were outfielder Tom Saffell, recently recalled by the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Catcher Eddie Fitzgerald.

The lone representative from the three teams at the bottom of the league is outfielder Bob Addis of Milwaukee, one of the

Lackey Crowned New Horseshoe Pitching King

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—The Buckeye State Horseshoe Pitchers Association has a new set of officers and champion today.

Ralph Lackey of West Middletown won the championship yesterday, with Ellis Hanna of Canton, Paul Focht of Dayton and William Glass of Xenia following in that order.

The Class B title went to M. Schneider of Springfield, who won out over Walter Allison of Gallipolis, C. Kyle of Cedarville and George Bowman of Columbus.

C. A. Benedict of Johnstown is the new association president. Other officers named yesterday are G. L. Geiger of Columbus, first vice-president; Stanley Manker of Wilmington, second vice-president; Harry Sibert of Dayton, third vice-president, and A. B. McCoy of Coshocton, secretary-treasurer.

Hunters Need New Licenses After Friday

Pickaway County hunters must have new 1950 licenses for their field trips after Friday.

The new licenses will become valid Friday and will be in effect until Aug. 31, 1951.

Hunters are warned that the licenses must be displayed on their backs this season while they are in the field. Only fishing licenses now do not have to be displayed.

Price of this year's hunting permits are again set at $1, with a 25 cent fee for the person who issues them. Non-resident licenses are $15.25.

Lusty Song Is Favored

DU QUOIN, Ill., Aug. 30—Lusty Song, 1950 Hambletonian winner, heads a field of eight today in the champion stallion 3-year-old trot of the Grand Circuit program at the Du Quoin State Fair.

Stars Price, Hambletonian runnerup, also is entered.

A Hayes Fair Acres entry, Mighty Grattan and Shipshape, finished one-two yesterday in the Illinois Colt Stakes for 3-year-old pacers.

Intangible of Newport Stock Farms ran the fastest time of the day, finishing both heats of the Court Jester Stake for 17 class pacers in 2:06 4-5.

Races Ending

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30—Midget auto racing comes to an end at Sportsmans Park in suburban Bedford Sunday. A program of five events is scheduled with an all-star field of 18 drivers traveling 100 laps in the feature.

Sandy Hill Picks Miami For Display Of Talents

Circleville's Sandy Hill Wednesday made an answer to the long-standing question of where he will display his outstanding football talents.

The CHS grid great is to leave Sept. 12 to begin freshman practice with the Miami university Redskins in Oxford.

Sandy expects to major in physical education in Miami while plying his skill on the gridiron.

The local speedster, all-time Ohio scorer in Class A school competition, captain of the mythical Ohio "dream team" and winner of All-America high school honors was the backbone of the attack for the Circleville Tigers, who completed two perfect seasons with his aid.

Hill also was named "most valuable player" during each of the years in which the Tigers pyramided into statewide recognition.

BEGINNING his freshman year, Sandy is not expected to see duty either on the gridiron or on the baseball diamond, his two favorite competitive sports.

Meanwhile, Miami has issued a call for its "regulars" for this season to begin practice Friday. Miami opens its schedule Sept. 30 against Bowling Green.

Hill said that arrangements have been made for his board and tuition during his freshman year.

Crown Prince Cops Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 30—Crown Prince was a surprise winner at Roosevelt Raceway Monday as the five-year-old chestnut horse, owned by Lucius N. Wescoat of Eastville, Va., grabbed the honors in the Mamaica Pace.

Driven by William Myer, the winner took his fifth victory of the season in 16 starts. The horse won the feature event by a nose over Major Rosecroft as Rapid Gallon, the favorite, placed third.

The victory was Myer's second consecutive win, the driver having brought home the odds-on clean up in the previous race.

Straight Heat Wins Marking Fair Program

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30—Some sort of record may be in the making for harness racing at the Ohio State Fair.

Three steeds romped home straight-heat winners in the four events on Monday's opening race program and all five winners walked off with straight-heat decisions in yesterday's racing.

Don Albright roared to victory in the featured 2:15 trot of the Buckeye Pacing Derby for a purse of $3,000.

Lee Stone snared the first division of the 2:25 pace. Direct K Guy took the pace's second division.

Billy Stone scored in the 2:24 trot and Walton Stone in the opening race, a 2:18 trot.

Four races are scheduled for today, including a three-year-old pace for Ohio-owned horses. To the winner of the feature will go the Secretary of Agriculture Trophy and $3,000.

Mrs. Eshelman Wins Women's Golf Title

Mrs. Herbert Eshelman of Reber avenue Tuesday won the Pickaway Country Club women's golf tournament championship.

Mrs. Eshelman earned the club trophy with a 12 and 11 victory over Mrs. Frank Wantz of Montclair avenue.

The champion advanced into the finals last week with a substantial victory over Mrs. Ned Groom, while Mrs. Wantz was given a bye in the lower bracket.

Medalist scorer of the championship match were not made available.

No Ungraded Milk To Sell In Circleville After Friday

New City Ordinance Is Readied

Officials Plan Issuing Permits

A ban on the sale of ungraded milk in Circleville will go into effect Friday.

City Health Commissioner C. O. Leist reported that a state inspection of milk distributors and producers in the Circleville area was conducted last week.

"Although we don't have the exact results yet, we know that all scores were passing," Leist said.

He added that actual grading of milk will be accomplished by local health officials. Under a code approved by city council, the milk will be graded "A," "B," and "C."

In addition to having the proper milk grade, producers and distributors must obtain a permit in order to sell milk or milk products in Circleville.

Leist said application for the permits should be made to his office on the ground floor of City Building. City council set the permit fee at $1.

"PERSONS WISHING to sell milk here should have their permits by Friday," Leist said.

Principal reason for passage of the milk code by city council was to outlaw the sale of raw milk for human consumption.

A secondary reason, promulgated by Circleville milk distributors, was that counties surrounding Pickaway County have already passed, or are in process of passing, similar codes.

Without a similar code in effect here, both producers and distributors would have difficulty selling milk or milk products beyond the county lines.

The Circleville ordinance will affect the entire county, since all the milk distributors are located within the city limits.

The city milk ordinance gives detailed instructions for pasteurization processes to be used, plus details of bottling, capping and health examinations for persons working with milk.

Transfer of milk or milk products from one container to another on the street, in any vehicle or store is prohibited.

In addition, the sale of any milk or milk product which has not been kept at a temperature of 50 degrees or less is outlawed.

Inspections of dairy farms and milk plants are to be conducted twice a year under the program, and the health commissioner is obligated to announce grades of milk and milk products consumed here.

Many County Farmers Harvesting Corn Early, PMA Aide Reports

Many Pickaway County farmers already have begun to cut and shock their 1950 field corn crops.

Dewey Downs of the local Production and Marketing Administration pointed out that two main reasons probably are responsible for the early cutting.

"A lot of the fellows lost hay because of rainy weather this Summer," Downs said," and will be feeding with fodder.

"But that probably isn't the main reason," he added. "Most of the farmers probably are cutting their corn now so as to seed their wheat earlier."

The PMA spokesman explained that many farmers do not permit their field corn to drain the soil before cutting the grain, but rather let the grain ripen in the shock so that they may begin working on the following year's wheat crop.

"THEY GET GOOD corn that way," Downs said, "as well as getting ready for next year and saving the soil."

Downs said that the 1950 corn loan has not yet been set, although the price probably will be about the same as the 1949 price of $1.44 per bushel. The new loan prices are expected to be set about Oct. 1.

"We loaned Pickaway County farmers a total of $811,735 on their grain crops last year," Downs said. "More than half of the money we loaned out was on corn crops.

"However, the market was good last year and all of the money plus three percent interest was paid back."

Downs said that the PMA office is offering to lease out some of its new grain bins west of Circleville to farmers this year. Farmers may lease the bins at a cost of seven cents per bushel, he said, the same price PMA pays for farmers who store their grain under the loan plan.

August Farm Price Receipt Report Awaited

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The Agriculture Department is expected to report today that prices farmers received for their products during August were little if any higher than last month.

The department is to make its monthly report on the price-cost relationship today. While prices farmers received have gone up, the prices they pay also have continued upward.

Farmers' cash receipts from marketings in August are expected to total about $2.6 billion—15 percent higher than July and slightly more than during August, 1949.

Receipts from the sale of livestock and livestock products will amount to about $1.4 billion, 12 percent above July and eight percent greater than in August of last year. Marketings are reported higher this year.

Marketings of all types of meat animals are up seasonaly, and their prices are substantially higher than last year.

FARMER RECEIPTS from dairy products are expected to be somewhat lower this month from July. The somewhat higher prices received for dairy products are not expected to offset smaller marketings.

As far as the over-all- annual picture is concerned, the department figures that farmers cash receipts this year will be $2 billion more than it was expected earlier this year.

The department says the economic stimulus of the Korean war has forced a revision of farmers cash receipts this year from $25 billion to $27.5 billion.

Bridges' Union Ousted By CIO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Harry Bridges' West Coast Longshoremen and the Fishermen's Union today were kicked out of the CIO on charges of following the Communist Party line.

The expulsion of the two unions, which recently merged, was voted by the CIO executive board, 41 to 2, at a meeting in Washington.

The board immediately began consideration of a report recommending ouster of the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union on the same charge.

Eight other allegedly Red-dominated unions were kicked out of the CIO prior to today's executive board session.

Lausche Stand Hit By Union

BARBERTON, Aug. 30—Some 1,000 members of a Barberton labor union will not take part in the city's Labor Day celebrations unless Gov. Frank J. Lausche endorses State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson for United States Senate.

Garfield Ries, president of Local 58 of the CIO-United Rubber Workers, said members of his union will not march in the parade unless Lausche comes out flatly against Robert A. Taft. He explained:

"We are spending a lot of money to get Taft out of there, and we can't see the use of supporting a man who apparently favors him."
